HHH Appeals For N.Y. Votes

New York (AP) — With time growing short Hubert H. Humphrey campaigned Wednesday on the sidewalks of New York, appealing to thousands at a street corner rally to prod friends, relatives and neighbors to the ballot-box.

"I need every vote we can get," the Democratic presidential candidate declared in making a traditional election year appearance in Manhattan's garment district before a crowd that filled about three blocks.

Humphrey recalled that Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy — two other presidential candidates waging uphill campaigns—had appeared "at this same spot" to seek help and then had gone on to victory.

"Now," said Humphrey, "I ask for your help as I never asked for it before."

Fifth Visit

It was Humphrey's fifth campaign visit to New York City and he returns once more Saturday.

Humphrey's top political aide, William Connell, said that Humphrey has an excellent chance of winning without the election being forced into the House.

He predicted that Humphrey — "if the momentum continues" — had a good chance of carrying seven of the biggest states, excluding California, which he termed "wildly unpredictable," and Illinois.

However, Connell expressed belief that the election would be won or lost in such border states as Kentucky, Tennessee, Maryland and such Southern states as Arkansas, North and South Carolina, and Virginia.

The vice president later made a brief invasion into Maryland, the home state of Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, Republican Richard M. Nixon's running mate.

Humphrey said of Agnew in prepared remarks, "You know him better than I — and I'm sure you'll be glad to have him back in Annapolis after next Tuesday." Annapolis is Maryland's capital.

Humphrey said that there had never been a greater need for a leader of "strength and wisdom" to reconcile the nation's and he added:

"Never has there been a greater need for people to learn once again to trust one another.

"And never has the need been greater for the people to trust their president."

Nixon Faces Half-Empty Auditorium

Cleveland, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, facing an unfamiliar array of empty seats, said Wednesday night, "we're going to win this election," but urged his supporters to strive through the four campaign days remaining to build the Republican vote.

"We're going right down to the wire," the GOP White House campaigner said at a Cleveland Public Auditorium rally most notable for the thousands of empty seats. The auditorium seats more than 10,000; no more than half the seats appeared filled.

Nixon had been playing night after night to standing room audiences.

"I speak with confidence because of what I've seen across this country," Nixon said. "I will predict tonight that we're going to win this election.

The Cleveland rally wound up a day which Nixon began with a journey to Hubert H. Humphrey's Minnesota, calling his Democratic rival "a man who's trotted meekly along behind his master," Lyndon B. Johnson.

It appeared that Nixon's vaunted organization had finally slipped. "Somebody's going to hear about it in the morning," one Nixon aide said. "This is the last time the local committee will give out tickets," said another aide. "We've never given them out before."

Later a group of young ticket holders complained they had been kept out of the hall by Nixon organizers who feared they might be demonstrators.

George C. Wallace, the third party candidate, spoke in the same Cleveland hall Oct. 5 and the place was nearly full then.

Leaders Resign In Luxembourg

Luxembourg (AP) — Grand Duke Jean of Luxembourg accepted the resignation Wednesday of the coalition government led by Social Christian Premier Pierre Werner.

The Social Christian-Socialist government decided Tuesday to resign because of differences on a planned increase of state pensions and salaries for government employes.

Omaha Power Rates 'Excessive'

. . . LOWER INCOME GROUPS HIT HARD

Elderly and retired people living on fixed incomes and "the entire spectrum of the lower income groups" are paying the highest rates for electricity in Omaha, according to a consulting engineer.

These groups represent most of the 60% to 70% of Omaha citizens who pay peak rates, Raymond O. Farris told Mayor A. V. Sorensen and members of the City Council in a letter commenting on negotiations between the city and Omaha Public Power District.

Farris is a partner in the consulting engineering firm of Engineering Associates, Inc.

Residential rates in Omaha are up to 11% higher than similar rates in Lincoln, Farris said.

"The elderly fixed income groups and the commercial customers in Omaha are paying excessive rates not to subsidize industry in Omaha, but in the entire OPPD area south to Kansas," Farris told the mayor.

"The large profits extracted from the City of Omaha are not being used to lure industry to Omaha, or even Nebraska," he said.

They are being used "to finance the continued uneconomical expansion or empire-building of the OPPD's vast existing service area into larger new areas which previously were not economically feasible with the OPPD rates until they were subsidized by income from the City of Omaha," Farris wrote.

The city, he said, must take action soon to require OPPD to share more of its "profits" with the city.

OPPD, Farris told the mayor, has hired "an expensive lobbyist and building space in Lincoln for the purpose of influencing and changing legislation that presently permits the city to increase (its) present income from OPPD from $560,000 to over $4 million without an increase in rates."

'Arrow' Begins Trips

Trenton, N.J. (AP)—A three-car train dubbed the "Jersey Arrow" shot through the New Jersey countryside at 100 m.p.h. Wednesday in the inaugural run of what a state official described as the nation's fastest commuter service.

The sleek, electrically propelled train, with 350 early rising commuters aboard, began service on a triumphant start — it arrived at New York City four minutes ahead of schedule.

Poage Says Farmers Could Lose Billions Of Dollars If Nixon Elected

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The election of Richard Nixon as president could cost the American farmer $3 billion or $4 billion a year, the chairman of the House Agriculture Committee said in Lincoln Wednesday.

Democratic Rep. Bob Poage, who has represented a Texas district in the House since 1937, said Nixon's record indicates that he would "change the course of farm programs."

The farmer, he said, could "lose very materially."

Even with a Democratic Congress, "the president can put a blight on agriculture equal to anything this side of grasshoppers and drought," Poage warned.

'Just Zero'

"Nixon's farm policy is splendid," Poage said. "But his performance is nil . . . just zero."

Poage cited Nixon votes, as a member of the House and Senate, against Rural Electrification Administration appropriations, against Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service payments, against oil conservation payments and against establishment of the rural telephone program.

As vice president, Nixon even cast the tie-breaking vote against Senate legislation proposing 90% of parity payments on wheat, Poage said.

Poage was in Nebraska to campaign in behalf of Clair Callan, the Democratic congressional nominee in the First District.

Tours Watersheds

The Texan participated in a joint news conference with Callan in Lincoln, toured watershed projects near Beatrice and addressed a county fund-raising dinner in York Wednesday night.

Callan, he said, did "a magnificent job" as a member of the House Agriculture Committee during his term (1965-67) in Congress.

Nebraska's First District "had more small watersheds approved (during Callan's term) than any other district in the nation," Poage said. If he were returned to the House, the Texan said, "I think we could afford a few more watersheds now for eastern Nebraska."

'Working'

The current farm program "is working, even though it isn't perfect," Poage said.

Although he may not realize it, "the American consumer is doing better now under the present farm program than anywhere in the world at any time," the congressman noted.

The American family spends 17½% of its disposable income on food, compared to 25% in most of Europe and as much as 40% to 50% in the Soviet Union, Poage said.

Bankruptcy Seen

Elimination of a government farm program would mean bankruptcy for present farmers, and bring large corporations into agriculture on a vast scale, he pointed out.

"If that happened, the consumer could not expect his (food costs) to remain at 17½%," Poage said. "They would probably be 30%."

Large private corporations, he noted, are "not charitable institutions."

Poage predicted that Texas will go to Vice President Hubert Humphrey next week, but it will be "about a dogfall" in the Lone Star State.

Paris Bargaining May Bear Fruit

. . . SPOKESMEN CAGEY

Paris (AP) — The United States and North Vietnam appeared Wednesday to have moved nearer a breakthrough toward peacemaking as their envoys had their last formally scheduled encounter before the U.S. presidential election.

Though neither side would directly confirm persistent reports of imminent agreement on a halt in U.S. bombing of the North, one allied diplomat, who requested anonymity, told a newsman: "Everything is settled."

'Final Stages'

Another allied diplomat, Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand, declared in Bangkok the United States and North Vietnam have entered "final stages" of bargaining for a halt in the bombing and the start of full-scale peace talks.

He forecast some results "in the not too distant future."

Just back from a visit to the United States, Thanat said the crucial point still to be settled was reciprocity from Hanoi. The North Vietnamese, he told newsmen, must call for a halt in such activities as the firing of rockets into South Vietnamese cities and towns.

In Saigon, South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said Thursday the bombing of North Vietnam could not be halted until Hanoi agreed to de-escalate the war and to talk directly with South Vietnam at the peace table.

Within Hours

But in Tokyo, an official spokesman for Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said he expected the United States to announce suspension of the bombing "within several hours."

Urgent secret talks in Washington Tuesday between President Johnson and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr., his military commander in Vietnam, were widely viewed as an indication that Johnson might be close to a final decision on the issue.

Presidential press secretary George Christian and Robert J. McCloskey, the State Department spokesman, reaffirmed the two-week-old White House statement that there has been "no breakthrough" in the peace effort and that Johnson's Vietnam policy remains the same.

New Denunciation

The Hanoi regime, through its official daily newspaper Nhan Dan, issued a fresh denunciation of what it termed the stubborn attitude of the United States and renewed its demand for a stop to the U.S. bombing without reciprocal conditions on North Vietnam's part.

William J. Jorden, spokesman for U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's delegation in Paris, fielded reporters' questions cautiously after the 28th peace talks session. To most queries he answered: "No comment."

In one exchange, however, he hinted indirectly at bargaining progress. He was reminded that last week he had said it was discouraging that U.S. questions were not being answered by Hanoi's envoys and he was asked: "Are you of the same opinion now?"

'Complicated'

"The problem of peace is a very complicated one, and it would be surprising if there weren't some questions centering on issues which were unanswered," Jorden said, "and I wouldn't read too much into that, or too little."

His answer left the impression that Hanoi had replied—in part, at least—to Washington's latest peace package.

The North Vietnamese spokesman, Nguyen Thanh Le, put a 30-minute time limit on his normally long postconference press briefing and answered questions evasively.

He spent most of the news conference reading extracts from a prepared statement Ambassador Xuan Thuy had read at the envoys' meeting.

Thuy, he said, accused the Americans of spreading "sensational news to the effect that the United States is going to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, while implying that it is demanding that the government of the Democratic Republic of (North) Vietnam act in response."

Bomb Halt Acceptable To Abrams

New York Times Service

Washington — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the U.S. commander in South Vietnam, told President Johnson Wednesday that he could accept the military consequences of a complete halt in the bombing of North Vietnam under the present battlefield conditions, authoritative sources said Wednesday.

This represents a marked change in Abrams' views on the bombing question, and removed an important obstacle to the cessation of the bombing, if Johnson decides to order such an action.

Abrams reportedly told Johnson and other top administration officials that the North Vietnamese had dramatically eased pressure on United States and allied forces in the northern part of South Vietnam in the last month.

This has been accomplished by the withdrawal of several divisions from the I and II Corps areas in the northern part of the country and the virtual disengagement by the enemy from military actions in those sectors, it was reported.

Under these conditions, Abrams is reported to have said he could live with a bombing halt, but reserved a decision to change his mind if the enemy changed tactics.

Abrams was summoned from South Vietnam to meet with Johnson Monday night and Tuesday. He has returned to Saigon.

3 TV Networks Plan No Early Projections

© New York Times Service

By JACK GOULD

New York — The three national television networks plan a conservative approach in making any early projections of the winner in the presidential race on election night on the home screen.

If the returns do not show an irreversible landslide for Richard M. Nixon, the three presidents of the network news departments said, the "call" or "naming" of the successful nominee might not come until extremely late on the night of Tuesday, Nov. 5, or well into the next morning.

Elmer W. Lower, president of American Broadcasting Co. News, and Reuven Frank, president of National Broadcasting Co. News, said they are disturbed that a three-way contest between Nixon, Vice President Humphrey and George C. Wallace might pose difficulties for computing machines that have been only stocked with background data on past two-way presidential races.

Richard S. Salant, president of Columbia Broadcasting System News, on the other hand, saw no computer difficulties, noting that the machines had been suitably programmed in advance with respect to primaries for which there had been no precedent. One job of the computers is to report almost instantly voting trends that significantly depart from the results of previous elections.

World News

The network news chiefs said their chains would repeatedly stress throughout the evening that polls were still open in many Western states despite receipt of earlier returns from the East.

This move was designed to allay criticism from some West Coast politicians who contend East Coast reports may induce voters to stay home on the assumption that the race is over. The networks have repeatedly argued that no research bears out such a conclusion.

Won't Declare Winner

Salant said CBS no longer would "declare a winner" in advance of actual voting figures but would merely say the election of one candidate over another was "a CBS News estimate." Repeated mentions of "vote profile analysis" would be dropped, he added, in favor of simpler explanation that selected sample precincts can give a clue to state or national trends.

The CBS News president said the network would not hesitate to name the estimated winner as quickly as possible if its research so warranted.

The New York polls close at 9 p.m. and the California polls at 11 p.m., New York time. If a candidate already had a majority in the Electoral College before the California polls closed, Salant said the news could not be withheld but Californians would be reminded that the importance of their vote in other contested offices, particularly for the Senate and House.

To Delay Projection

Lower said there would be no projection of a state's total vote by ABC until all the polls had closed in the state. Kansas normally releases partial results of voting before the closing of its polls. Lower said his network also would stress that the network's expectation that a given candidate would win should not be confused with an actual determination of the outcome by a complete count of the raw voting figures.

Frank said NBC would use two boards in the presidential race, one carrying a raw vote count and the other indicating how NBC expected the race to come out.

The second borad, he said, would offer a variety of alternatives, such as signs indicating it was "too early" to make a projection or "to close" to do so. If one candidate looked like a winner the second board would indicate his probable margin of victory but no tentative checkmark would be placed beside his name, Frank said.

Czechoslovakia To Be Federation

© New York Times Service

Bratislava, Czechoslovakia — As Slovak youths cheered outside Bratislava Castle, the leaders of Czechoslovakia Wednesday signed a constitutional law long sought by the Slovak people providing for Slovak and Czech local autonomy within a federal state.

The planned new federal structure, Slovaks hope, will give them a greater share of the wealth of the nation — arresting, for example, the emigration of Slovaks to highly industrialized Bohemia for better paying jobs.

The four million Slovaks live in a largely underdeveloped region of southeastern Czechoslovakia. Czechs outnumber Slovaks 2 to 1.

'Historic' Act

At the signing ceremonies President Ludvik Svoboda termed federalization a "progressive" and "historic" act that would improve "the social order and welfare of the Czechoslovak people."

In speeches to the combined assembly of the Slovak National Council and the central committees of the Slovak National Front and the Slovak Communist Party, Czechoslovak Communist Party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek and Slovak party chief Gustav Husak spoke of federalization as strengthening Czechoslovakia's unity.

The Soviet Union has been cool towards Czechoslovak federalization but has made no direct efforts to block it since the Aug. 21 invasion.

The move has been a major goal of Dubcek's liberalizing program. Dubcek became a party leader last January. Under the earlier leadership of Antonin Novotny, Slovak demands for local autonomy were suppressed in favor of building a strong centralist state.

In his speech Dubcek proclaimed repeatedly his Slovak nationality and said his liberal policies would be continued and that only excesses would be curbed.

Husak, who led the 1944 Slovak national uprising against the Fascist puppet government installed by Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler, sought to dispel rumors that the aim of Slovak leaders was to set up a separate nation.

"The common nation with the Czech people," Husak said, "is the natural basis of the existence of Slovakia as a nation."

Although the federalization law was signed by Svoboda, Premier Oldrich Cernik and National Assembly leader Josef Smrokovsky, Dubcek did not sign because of the split between government and party functions in Czechoslovakia. It will not actually take effect until Jan. 1.

The law reserves to the federal domain responsibilities for foreign policy and defense, and to the Czech and Slovak local administrations the areas of culture and education.

There are several areas where federal and local bodies will share as yet undefined responsibilities.

The law set up a federal national assembly consisting of an assembly of the people, elected on the basis of proportional representation, and assembly of nations, in which Czechs and Slovaks will have equal representation.

One principle behind the statue is that Slovaks may be able to block federal legislation in certain key fields such as taxation, economic planning and foreign trade that they believe may be prejudicial to their interests.

River Boats Hurt Red Water Force

Saigon (AP) — U.S. Swift river boats plowing deep into the southern part of South Vietnam met and destroyed most of an enemy water force, the Navy reported Wednesday.

After a five-hour battle Tuesday, the enemy lost 243 sampans and other small crafts, and shells from the river boats and support craft destroyed 167 bunkers and other fortifications, the Navy said.

The fighting began with a Viet Cong ambush. Three of the fast, aluminum U.S. river boats were churning up the Bo De River in the southernmost province of An Xuyen when enemy gunners opened up with automatic weapons and recoilless rifles from both banks.

All three boats were hit and a crewman wounded but the Navy said they were able to "return and suppress" the enemy fire.

The river boats were joined by the Coast Guard cutter Wachusett, the Navy support ship Washoe County and South Vietnamese air force A1 Skyraiders.

Moving from two directions along a 32-mile enemy complex on the river, the force shot up everything in sight.

"In this type of operation," a Navy spokesman said, "the boats are prepared to go out where Charlie (the enemy) lives and find him. I think from the minute they went in that river they knew they might get hit at any moment."

Red Guns Speak

Far to the north, enemy gunners fired 51 artillery rounds late Wednesday at the big Dong Ha Marine base, eight miles south of the demilitarized zone. Three Americans were reported killed.

Near the seacoast eight miles to the east, enemy rockets and artillery were fired at a U.S. naval facility and a Vietnamese army position, but no damage or casualties were reported.

U.S. bombers pressed their heavy raids on supply routes in the southern panhandle of North Vietnam Wednesday. A U.S. spokesman said raids were being planned for Thursday as usual.

"He's under pressure 24 hours a day," said a senior officer, referring to North Vietnam.

Rochester, Minn. (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon Wednesday accused the Democrats of playing dirty politics by showing a television commercial which said he opposed Social Security and medicare.

He called the advertisement "an outright falsehood" and said the Democrats should withdraw it.

"I have always voted for Social Security. I supported the program that expanded it to 15 million people not covered," he said.

FAA Probing Plane Crash At Fullerton

Fullerton (AP) — The FAA Wednesday was investigating the crash of a twin-engine plane belonging to Dr. J. C. Maly of Fullerton which occurred Tuesday afternoon about two miles northeast of here.

Acting Nance County Sheriff Richard Shepoke said that pilot Frank Boreign of Omaha, a pilot for an Omaha air service, had taken off in the plane en route to Omaha when it came down in a gully not far from the airport.

Dr. Maly had driven the pilot to the airport but was not aboard the plane.

Damage to the craft was extensive, investigators said.

Dr. Maly told officers he had seen the plane disappear over a hill and had driven in the direction the craft had taken when he observed Boreign walking across a field. Boreign was hospitalized for treatment of a back injury.

Arsonists Given Blame For Blaze At Ralston School

Ralston (AP) — Authorities have ruled that arsonists were responsible for a fire that damaged a classroom in St. Gerald's Catholic School.

The Rev. William Foster, St. Gerald's pastor, said books were burned in one room of the grade school. Father Foster said the policy of locking the doors to other classrooms apparently halted further damage.

Ralston Police Chief Robert Durham said windows to three rooms had been broken and desks were piled and ignited in each room.

The estimate of damage was not immediately determined.

Youth Suffers Fatal Injuries As Auto Rolls

Ogallala (AP) — A youth died here Wednesday of injuries suffered in a one-car accident at the Ogallala Interstate 80 exit Tuesday afternoon.

Police said George Marquardt, 18, died of head injuries received when the convertible he was driving rolled over twice down an exit embankment landing on its wheels at the bottom of the 47-foot drop.

The vehicle left skid marks of 289 feet, police said, but speculated that the late afternoon sun may have been in the driver's eyes.

Worked On Project

The victim was the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Marquardt of Ogallala. He was a 1968 graduate of Ogallala high school.

Police said they did not expect the death to be listed as a traffic fatality because the accident occurred on an unopened stretch of highway. Marquardt was a construction employe on the project and was apparently on his way home at the time of the mishap.

Swift Plans To Close Omaha Packing Plant

Omaha (AP) — Plans for closing the third major meat packing plant in Omaha were announced Wednesday.

All operations at Swift and Company's meat packing plant are slated to be discontinued on or before November 1, 1969, manager Virgil Franz said.

Franz said job opportunities will be availabe at two other near-by Swift plants. He said expansion of beef operations at Grand Island should provide job opportunities when the plant is completed in July of next year.

And he said the company is renovating its recently purchased meat packing plant at Glenwood, Iowa, into a hog slaughtering and cutting unit.

Ham Plant Due

Franz said that some 1,600 Omara employes will also be offered about 160 jobs at the ham and canning plant being constructed here. He said operation of the plant would start about the middle of next year.

He said the workers will be eligible for separation pay, early immediate pension or deferred pension.

He said the decisior to close was reached after a study indicated the plant, originally built in 1887, would have to be completely replaced. He said such a plan would not be justified in today's money market.

The Armour Packing Company had previously cut down a major portion of its Omaha operation.

The Cuddahy Packing Co. halted its Omaha operations a few years ago.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Something new was started in Lincoln last week and 28 citizens did their thing. They were sworn in as volunteer probation officers for the Municipal Court. As court officers, they will help in guiding people who need help along the path of a law-abiding and constructive life.

One example of what they might do. Recently, a driver went through radar at 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile-an-hour zone. He was a young man in his teens who has two older brothers who have a long record of trouble with the law.

Having received his speeding ticket, the young man drove around the block and deliberately went through the same radar zone at 50 miles an hour. He was ticketed a second time but he showed the cops they couldn't buffalo him.

Without any help, this young man may show the cops in the future that he can't be buffaloed by robbing a store, passing a bad check or some other felony. In proving his point, as distorted as it might be, he would earn time in the state penitentiary at public expense.

He may be beyond help, who knows? But the right kind of help from a probation officer may cause him to believe that, after all, someone does care about him. It may cause him to contemplate the foolishness of his ways and to adopt a different attitude and outlook.

If this would happen, a life would be literally saved because a life of crime is a wasted life, a destroyed life. In serving the court, the 28 volunteer citizens will deal with all kinds and ages of people.

Most will be young people and all will be minor offenders, those in the misdemeanor category. Felonies all go to County Court.

Thus, the 28 volunteers will be counseling at least one hour each week with people who have been processed through Municipal Court for a variety of offences such as disorderly conduct, a minor in possession of alcohol, disturbing the peace, carrying a concealed weapon, resisting an arrest or insulting an officer, reckless driving or speeding and a number of other possibilities.

The specific incident and case history of the offender will have indicated a need for help from outside the family. It will indicate a pattern that, if continued, would likely lead to the ultimate commission of a felony.

These volunteers have attended three evening training sessions of 2½ hours duration each to prepare for their work. They will not get a cent of remuneration for their efforts.

They will help relieve a probation load that is staggering. The one full-time probation officer in the Municipal Court is currently handling 400 probation cases. Additionally, he is making an average of two pre-sentencing investigations every day.

★

Robert Keller, the probation officer, is described by Municipal Court Judge Thomas McManus as a dedicated man. The entire court, it seems, might be described this way.

And what can you say about the volunteers? People are often heard to ask what they can do for their fellow man. These volunteers have seen what they can do and are doing it. They are giving of their time and talents without the hope of any return, except the satisfaction they will get out of trying to make life meaningful for someone else.

The fact is that there no longer is any question of what people can do to help their community and its citizens if they are willing. There are many, many more areas of need than there are volunteers to satisfy them.

And if we might be permitted one toot of our own horn, more than half the probation volunteers said they learned of the program through the press, radio or television. It's another reminder that everything in the paper is not bad news.

Legislative Rerun In Order

One-half of Lancaster County's representation in the state Legislature will be up for election to new four-year terms next Tuesday. Residents of Lincoln and the county will find their best interest in returning these three incumbents to the posts they have occupied in the past.

Two of the three, Jerome Warner of Waverly in the 25th District and Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln in the 29th District, are multiple term veterans who have worked intelligently and effectively for their constituents and for the state.

They are opposed by Charles Bates in the 25th District and Mrs. Jan Healey in the 29th. There is no intent of taking anything away from these challengers but there is no valid reason for sending them to the Legislature in place of Warner and Orme.

The latter two have been particularly effective in the field of education. Warner has, also, worked especially at a better highway program, finances and conservation while Mrs. Orme has been an influential voice in budget matters, institutions and governmental reform.

Lincolnite William Swanson of the 27th District was appointed to the Legislature to fill a vacancy. In the 1967 session, he was considered by his colleagues and other observers to be an articulate and effective senator. He is opposed by former Railway Commissioner Richard H. Larson.

In the candidacies of Warner, Orme and Swanson, Lancaster County offers as effective and capable a group of nominees as will be found throughout the state. Their record, combined or individually, warrants their return for another two sessions of the Unicameral.

Winter's Month

Welcome, Great Pumpkin.

Today is Halloween — and sincere pumpkin patches around the globe are ready for the Great Pumpkin's annual non-appearance. And tonight the sidewalks and, we fear, the streets of Lincoln will be clogged with tricks-or-treaters. Be alert, drivers.

And if Halloween comes can November be far behind? Today is summer's last gasp. October belongs to autumn, with occasional claims on her made by summer. But November -- no matter what the calendar says — is winter's month.

November means north winds that chill you to the bone because you're not ready yet. The same winds in January will seem like summer breezes. November means cold drizzle and maybe the first real snow.

It means (unless there's a bowl game in our future) the end of the all-too-brief college football season.

It means election day, too. And George Wallace on the ballot, in case you need something to make Halloween really frightening.

But most of all it means cold weather is back. No more night-time walks, no more playing catch in the yard, no more quick starting cars, no more trips out of town without checking the Weather Bureau to see if a blizzard is on the way.

There will be warm days . . . but they're numbered now. And all too soon December will come and erase all traces of the long, delicious summer and golden autumn.

It's time to hibernate, Nebraska.

For The Underdog

Scotia, Neb.

We hear people say that Ike kept us out of war, that the Demos got us in war and the GOP got us out, that we need a change.

Yes, some changes might help, but not the kind of changes these people have in mind. The working people are getting too well off. They should share it with the "poor rich." These people may get their wish, if the managers of the GOP can keep that hole plugged — that is, keep Nixon out of debates, etc.

The fact that Nixon refuses to debate HHH should cause people to think that Nixon is against almost everything that is good for the people who produce the wealth of the nation.

A gold mine isn't worth a dime until labor is applied to it, so why shouldn't labor have its fair share? However, I don't believe in labor's abusing its privilege. I've followed HHH for more than 15 years and am satisfied he is for the underdog. So the underdogs should think before casting their ballots.

What They Mean

Lincoln, Neb.

The astronauts are in the headlines around the world. Like our successful Schirra, with the spacecraft Apollo 7 (which means light, beauty), today is the Russian Beregovoy, with Soyuz III. His name is given often in connection with the tragedy of Komarov, who crashed to earth in 1967.

What do these Russian words mean? As in many other languages, they have some significance Beregovoy, used mainly as an adjective, means "coastal. Soyuz means "union." But Komarov is akin to "mosquito, insect."

Get It Over

Lincoln, Neb.

Saturday's headline, Oct. 26, stated: "President Thieu Will Not Budge." The fine print was more explicit. The president of South Vietnam does not want the National Liberation Front at the bargaining table.

We have made our bid for peace. Now it is time to bring the boys home and do it by Christmas. I have not a single relative in the fight but that is not the issue. Humanity is beside itself to find a way out of this debacle.

We are already negotiating with the communists of North Vietnam. Why is it any worse to negotiate with the communists of South Vietnam?

Get out and get the boys home! Set up a real guard action and place the men aboard ship. To stay there is to let Thieu control the conduct of our fighting forces. We do not owe him that much and we have made no such commitment.

If evacuation is not possible now, the only sensible thing to do is to assemble the Congress and ask for a declaration of war. Do it one way or do it another—but get it over.

In Answer

Washington, D.C.

I have read with interest Mr. Emery's letter which appeared in the Monday, October 28 Star, and I am addressing this reply to him.

As you know, the master of ceremonies was selected by the pastor of Grace Methodist Church, so I am confident you were not attempting to question the motives of the pastor on his selection, just as I do not question your motives of what I take to be a sincere desire on your part to obtain an answer to your questions, even though you chose to contact me through the newspapers rather than by personal letter.

In answer to your questions, yes, I honestly believe that the increase in crime is an important issue in this campaign. No, I am sure that my two opponents are as sincerely concerned about the problem as I am. Yes, it is a solid issue because of the qualifications, associations and records of the three candidates involved.

New Party candidate — a law student.

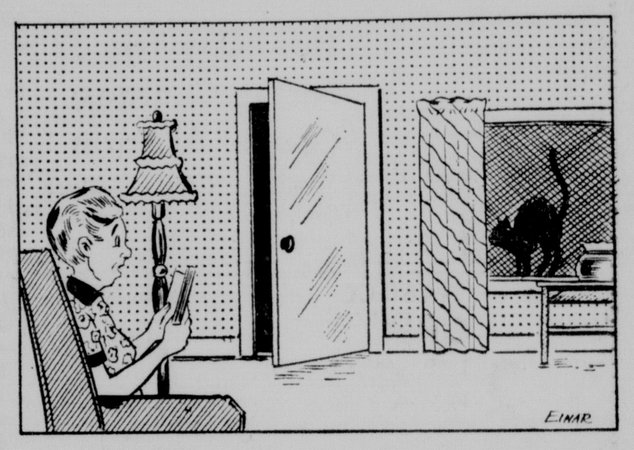

Democratic candidate — during the 1966 campaign, his advertisements bragged about an open door to the Johnson-Humphrey administration. It is that administration which has produced: (1) an attorney general who refuses to use wiretapping against organized crime; (2) Billy Sol Estes, the TFX scandal, etc.; and (3) a presidential candidate who says if he were living in a ghetto, he would lead a riot also.

Republican candidate — lawyer, ex-FBI agent, former county and city attorney, counsel to the Nebraska Peace Officers Association, vice chairman of the National Republican Committee Task Force on Crime and Deliquency and author of a treatise on civil disobedience.

Patchwork Prairie Country

The big truck roars into the yard, creaking and roaring under its weight of milo. It is good to see the grain move from the field into the bins. At this time of year every day is a hoped-for day of sunshine so the fields can be gleaned before the snows settle over the land.

The road by our house carries the trucks loaded with yellow corn. Picker shellers roll through the corn fields grasping the ears with papery husks, stripping them quickly, sending the shelled corn into the bin.

☆ ☆ ☆

I heard it just as surely as I am writing this column, a light tap, tapping at my door. I listened a moment and heard the tapping once more, this time slightly louder than the first time. Slowly I edged my way out of my chair, went to the door and looked outside into the dark night . . . dark except for the silvery moon that rode high overhead. I scanned the bleak shadows until my eyes became accustomed to the night but saw neither form nor shape. I had expected to see something . . . if nothing more than a cat pawing at my door.

I had just seated myself again comfortably, content with the knowledge that whatever the noise, it did not amount to much when I heard the same far-away tapping as before. Since the sound seemed to come this time from the back door, I quickly made my way there, turned the doorknob and prepared for meeting my guest. Again I was left aghast.

Aha! This time I would leave both the front door and back door slightly ajar. When and if the strange noises were heard again, I could immediately look to the door and solve the weird goings on without moving out of my chair.

I waited. I waited some more. Still I waited while silver ribbons of moonlight filtered in through the open door. I began reading for all seemed to be peaceful and serene. It was relaxing once again to sit quietly with my thoughts revolving about the characters of a book.

Suddenly it came . . . the most screeching howl I have heard in a long time. There was no denying it was from a cat, a long, high pitched meow that hung on the thin night air like a witch on her broom.

I jumped in spite of myself. Quickly I made my way to the door. Not a creature was in sight . . . just an old broom. Now, the broom was the one that stands in the garage and our young pup likes to drag the broom about the yard. He also likes to chase cats. But yet I have a few qualms. Halloween brings the spooks and goblins. Was a Halloween witch really at my door tap, tap, tapping with her long bony fingers?

Television Violence Now Being Checked

WASHINGTON — The National Commission on Violence, under Dr. Mitlon Eisenhower, has finally been goaded into extending its probe into TV violence. Chief goader was Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., who has demanded that network executives come before the commission and testify regarding what Boggs calls "brutality for profit."

"The trouble with television," says Boggs, "is first that directors are entertainment-trained, not information-trained. Second the TV executives are scrambling for ratings because ratings mean profit.

"Every parent in the country has been alarmed and worried over the exploitation of violence on television for profit.

"We cannot tolerate violence in any form, whether it be on the streets or on the TV screen, whether it is because of racial misunderstanding or for network profit."

Significantly, when the NBC mike was hidden in the Democratic platform committee hearing room — over which Rep. Boggs was presiding — NBC eavesdroppers overheard discussion of violence in TV programming.

The communications plank for the Democratic platform was under discussion, and it was proposed that the Democratic Party go on record in support of educational television. However, Humphrey forces wanted a much stronger plank, and after some debate won out.

Thanks to this, the Democratic platform now reads: "We deplore the all too frequent practice of exploiting violence in television programming and urge the Federal Communications Commission, through the use of its power to revoke and renew broadcast licenses, to end this practice."

To revoke broadcast licenses is a power which the FCC has never really used and the idea of using it sends shivers down the spinal columns of network executives. To have the Democratic Party go on record to this end is considered nothing short of revolutionary and should be sufficient reason to have the networks do everything in their power to make sure that the authors of that resolution do not take over the White House.

Note — The National Association for Better Broadcasting reports that despite the public outcry over assassinations of Robert F. Kennedy and Martin Luther King, new shows on television have been just as bloody this fall as ever.

HHH Gaining Momentum In Voter Approval But Time Is Short Against Nixon Expertise

CAMPAIGNING WITH HUMPHREY — Shortly before the Democratic convention in Chicago, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, foreseeing all too clearly the disaster to come, told a friend it would take three weeks to recover. That was an optimistic estimate, since only in the last 10 days or two weeks has the fragmented party begun to pull together to save the Humphrey-Muskie ticket.

A shift of voter sentiment is taking place. The gap is closing. Given another two weeks the odds on victory would be even or better, granted the continuing movement in Humphrey's direction.

But these are the last days. As time runs out, Humphrey's problem is to concentrate in those states where his managers believe he has a chance and where the harvest of electoral votes is greatest. So he stumps the industrial cities of Ohio with its 26 electoral votes, improbable as a Humphrey victory may look in a normally Republican state that in 1960 gave Richard Nixon his largest majority.

In retrospect the judgment is likely to be not whether the Humphrey campaign was good or bad, and in many respects it has been diffuse, disorganized, uncertain, but that given the unprecedented handicaps, the candidate was able to mount a campaign at all. It has had nightmare aspects — the bellowing of the bull horns in Seattle, the chanting of the demonstrators in city after city, the often all too sparse crowds. Yet Humphrey has come through with the spunk and the tenacity fundamental in his temperament.

He has been like a man scaling a cliff with his bare hands without benefit of any costly mountain-climbing equipment. The top is tantalizingly close but by any realistic appraisal it is still out of reach.

Belatedly certain issues have been sharpened and Humphrey is hitting them hard. Foremost is the arms race and Nixon's call for negotiating from strength, which must mean another upward cycle in the nuclear arms spending. To achieve superiority as against alleged parity, as Humphrey is charging, will mean vast new expenditures and higher rather than the lower taxes Nixon is promising. Evidence this is hitting the target is in Nixon's pledge to get the new Congress to ratify the nuclear non-proliferation treaty. His initial call for delay killed any chances the treaty might have had for approval in the last Congress.

In telling the voters that the Soviet Union is pulling even with the United States in nuclear weaponry, Nixon is doing just what John F. Kennedy did eight years ago. Kennedy accused the Eisenhower administration with allowing a perilous missile gap to grow, thereby putting the nation in jeopardy. Robert S. McNamara had not been in the office of secretary of defense three weeks before he found the charge to be wholly false. While Nixon may figure that what was fair for Kennedy is fair for him, this projects the whole complex and troubled question of America's security again into fiercely partisan politics.

Humphrey is warning that Nixon's election will intensify the arms race and quite possibly carry it to a point of no return. Even with an electorate that has shown itself more often than not withdrawn and obdurate, this may make a dent.

Confronted with the deep divisions in his party, Humphrey has refrained from recrimination. Invariably both in public and private, he has spoken in the friendliest terms of Sen. Eugene McCarthy. Whether the McCarthy endorsement at this late date can mean very much is questionable.

From the outset, the contrast with the Nixon campaign has been striking. With his cool and calculated planning as he advanced toward the nomination, Nixon made sure that any rift in his own party could be quickly mended. There has apparently never been any question of resources, with the big Republican contributors coming through generously. Television time was committed far in advance in large blocks with cash on the barrel head. It has all been as smooth as the experts in public relations could make it. And Nixon, having learned a lot in eight years, is the greatest expert of them all.

With the victory anticipated on Nov. 5, the Republican Party is returning to normal after the aberration of Barry Goldwater in 1964. The New York Times carried on Page 1 the report of a poll of presidents of corporations having their shares listed on the New York Stock Exchange. Of the 50 per cent who responded — a highly reliable sample — 85 per cent said they would vote for Nixon. This is hardly surprising, nor is it surprising that 65 per cent of those who said they voted for Lyndon Johnson four years ago are now voting for the Republican candidate.

These are the men who, in effect, direct and control America's business and industrial life. Their corporations have in many instances large defense contracts out of a defense budget of nearly $80 billion. In a letter meant to be private, Nixon gave them a pledge that the restraints applied by the Secretaries of Exchange Commission would be modified. To these men Humphrey is the outlander, the outsider, a threat to their rights and privileges. It would have been news if the executives had split more evenly between Nixon and Humphrey.

Letters Of Praise Pleasant Hobby

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. — "Whenever a clerk, waiter, or attendant gives me especially pleasant and efficient service, I get his name. Then I write a letter to the head of his firm stating how impressed I was with the person. This little hobby brings me many grateful letters. Just thought you'd like to know."

A. — It's a great idea and others should follow your example. Recognition stimulates incentive to do better, and gives the individual his richest form of pride and satisfaction. Your inexpensive little crusade may well provide more personal gratification to yourself and others than the expensive humanitarian gifts of many major philanthropists.

Q. — "You advised a woman to try and get her retired husband a job — he was 66 years old and on pension from the police force. Haven't you heard there's a job shortage? If you want to improve society and the economic picture you should encourage old duffers to stay home and stop complaining. If they go to work they merely take jobs that younger men need."

A. — You're wrong — there are thousands of job openings today and a very real scarcity of people qualified and willing to take these jobs. A recent government report cited one state which could use 8,000 additional gasoline station attendants, and one major city which had openings for 500 additional taxi-drivers. Many retired men may prefer to loaf, but loafing often leads to physical and mental deterioration which, in the long run, can be very expensive to society and the economy.

Q. — "I'm a widower, 68, with a son and daughter both married. I'm lonely and have been going with a 26-year-old girl who works at the Social Security office. It's real love for both of us, but my conscience is bothered by the fact that she's 10 years younger than my daughter. Is it immoral to be attracted to one so young?"

A. —I don't know about the moral issues, but it's not a sign of too much intelligence. It would be pretty strenuous keeping up with a wife that young, and she's certain to think of you as a father or grandfather, rather than a lover. Marriages like this may work if the participants are unusually dedicated or if there's a strong element of convenience. But a 42-year age gap just doesn't add up to a stable alliance.

If you would like a booklet, "Avoiding a Heart Attack," write to Robert Peterson, Life Begins at Forty, c/o Dispatch Letter Service, 25 W. 45th St., New York, N.Y. 10036, enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope and 10 cents to cover handling costs.

Importance Of Every Vote Stressed

By Associated Press

The citizen who passes up his chance to vote in an election on the theory that one vote makes no difference was offered some food for thought Wednesday by Rep. Robert V. Denney, R-Neb.

Relaying information assembled for him by the Library of Congress, Denney noted that in 1960, John Kennedy won the presidency by a margin of less than one vote per precinct. A switch of one-half of one per cent of the votes cast in two states, Illinois and New Jersey, in which Kennedy picked up 43 electoral votes, would have thrown the election into the House of Representatives.

Other samples:

In 1954, W. Averell Harriman won the New York governorship by a margin equivalent to just a little more than one vote per election district.

In 1948, a difference of one vote per precinct in Ohio and California would have denied Harry Truman 50 electoral votes and put his contest with Thomas E. Dewey into the House of Representatives for decision.

In 1916, Woodrow Wilson defeated Charles Evans Hughes for the presidency by carrying California, where his winning margin was the equivalent of less than one vote per precinct.

In 1884, a difference of less than one vote per precinct in one state, New York, gave the presidency to Democrat Grover Cleveland over Republican James G. Blaine.

Single votes have elected three presidents, Denney's report said.

Thomas Jefferson and John Quincy Adams won by margins of a single vote in the U.S. House of Representatives, and Rutherford B. Hayes became president in 1876 by the margin of one electoral vote.

A single vote in the U.S. Senate spared President Andrew Johnson from impeachment.

Law, Order Said Not Found Through Police Power Alone

© New York Times Service

Washington — Law and order in a free society is not achievable by massive applications of police power alone, two witnesses testified Wednesday before the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence.

They were Francis A. Allen, who has taught criminal law and criminology and is dean of the University of Michigan Law School, and William T. Gossett, president of the American Bar Association.

Allen, apparently referring to the current political campaign, said:

"One who seeks not simply order but also the preservation of a liberal society must concern himself with the justice and good reputation of the law. This is true because the alternative to widespread voluntary compliance with legal norms is brute repression.

"When the problems of law and order are viewed from this perspective, much that is being said today, including much being said by persons of great public prominence, is revealed as fatuous and mistaken."

Gossett said that in the light of facts produced by other commissions and by scholars, "it is not surprising that the poor, black and white, resent and fear the law, since they experience far more often and far more vividly instances of the law doing something to them rather than for them. This must be changed, and it cannot be changed simply by stricter law enforcement."

President Johnson established the commission after the assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then — Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly, easily. Ask your pharmacist.

Government-Press Relations Aired At Wayne By Salinger

Wayne (AP)—What was billed as an address on the "Kennedy years" turned into a discussion of government-press secretary to Presidents Kennedy and Johnson.

Salinger told a crowd of some 700 persons at Wayne State College that "the conflict between the press and the government is inevitable in the United States and had been since the founding of this country."

The former presidential secretary said, "I believe the president of the United States has the right in times of crisis to withhold information; if necessary to safeguard the security of the country. But I believe the press has the right to try to get this information."

In a question and answer period following his address; Salinger said he thought the reporters in Chicago during the Democratic convention acted responsibly. He said: "The events outside the hall were relevant; though not part of the convention; the press had the obligation to report them and did so."

The response to another question, Salinger said he thought Sen. Edward Kennedy could have won the Democratic presidential nomination and could have been elected. However; he said he thought Kennedy's decision not to run was correct.

Henrietta Blueye, 21-year-old Radcliffe College student from Tonawanda Indian Reservation, Basom, N.Y., was convicted Wednesday by a court in Budapest, Hungary, of trying to smuggle an East German to the West. ## Richter, Author, Dies At Age 78

© New York Times Service

Pottsville, Pa. — Conrad Richter, 78, whose novels about life in the America of yesteryear won the Pulitzer Prize for 1950 and the National Book Award for 1960, died here Wednesday.

Richter's books, often compared with those of Willa Cather, evoked America as it left the values of the frontier for the curse, in his view, of civilization.

Britain To Study Central Government Tradition

© New York Times Service

London — The government moved Wednesday toward what could be a historic change in the political structure of the United Kingdom.

It proposed a "commission on the constitution" to re-examine the deeply rooted traditions of strong central government in Britain. In particular, it would consider the ties binding Scotland, Wales and other outlying areas to London.

The commission proposal, vague as it is at this point, marked a tremendous gain for the surging pressures of Scottish and Welsh nationalism.

The Labor Party in general and Prime Minister Harold Wilson in particular have until now been highly antagonistic to the idea of separatism. Wednesday's action is the first time a British government has given such direct recognition to the appeal of the Celtic nationalists.

Indeed, the idea was framed in language that deferred to the nationalists' insistence that Wales and Scotland are "nations." It said the commission would consider possible changes in relations with "the several countries, nations and regions of the United Kingdom."

Those words were spoken by Queen Elizabeth II to a colorful assembly of peers and commoners in the House of Lords. They were the one real surprise in the queens' speech opening Parliament, written for her by the government and outlining its program.

Other legislative plans included lowering of the voting age from 21 to 18, and reform of the House of Lords to end hereditary voting rights.

Salazar Progresses

Lisbon (UPI) — Dr. Bissaia Barreto said former Portuguese Premier Antonio D'Oliveira Salazar is making "very satisfactory progress" in his recovery from a stroke. He said Salazar is responding to treatment and answers questions "normally."

Meetings On Inspection Law Reported

The Nebraska New Car Dealers Association reported Wednesday it will hold a series of six meetings over the state to acquaint dealers with the motor vehicle inspection law, which takes effect next Jan. 1.

The series begins Thursday noon with a meeting at the Holiday Inn, Interstate at 72nd St., in Omaha.

The schedule of other meetings: Thursday evening — Cornhusker Hotel in Lincoln; Friday noon — Riverside Country Club in Grand Island; Monday evening—Prenger's Steak House in Norfolk; Nov. 6, evening, Scottsbluff Country Club, and Nov. 7, evening — Holiday Inn in North Platte.

Attending the meetings will be Rayfield E. Johnson of Lincoln, chief of the division of inspection, and his staff.

The meetings will be designed to inform dealers as to the type of inspection stations and space required, equipment required to make the inspections, and other details.

The new law makes safety inspections of motor vehicles mandatory in Nebraska.

Chancellor Hardin Editor Of Book On World Hunger

University of Nebraska Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin is editor of a new book entitled "Overcoming World Hunger," which will serve as the basis for discussion at the 34th American Assembly in New York City, Oct. 31-Nov. 3.

The assembly will bring together about 60 persons representing various pursuits and interests, who will discuss in depth a strategy for solving world food problems.

Similar assemblies at the regional level will be held throughout the United States next year. The text edited by Chancellor Hardin will be published by Prentice-Hall Publishing Co. and will serve as basic resource material for the participants.

"Take my personal coupon and get 10¢ off new Axion."

Soaks out stains and dirt bleaches can't bleach out, detergents can't wash out!

You've probably seen Arthur Godfrey recommending Axion on television. Now he's offering you ten cents off your next box. An incredible new discovery, Axion is entirely different from any detergent. Entirely different from any bleach. Axion is an enzyme-active pre-soak that cleans away stains as no other kind of washing product has ever been able to do.

Works on your whole wash.

You see a striking difference in your entire wash every time you pre-soak with Axion. All you do is sort as usual. Your whites are noticeably brighter and cleaner. And pleasantly fresh smelling. Not only does Axion clean off tough dirt and stains, you can use it effectively on colored synthetic fabrics you wouldn't dare bleach. In fact, once you start using Axion, you find yourself pre-soaking everything you wash, every time you wash.

AXION attacks stain after stain.

Axion's active enzymes biologically break down the molecular structure of the most stubborn stains. Blood. Gravy. Sauces. Chocolate. Fruit stains. Dirt on white socks. Grass. Yellowing on pillowcases. Baby foods. Perspiration stains. Diaper stains. Grime on shirt collars and cuffs. And many more.

Now is the time to get Colgate's AXION.

This coupon will save you ten cents on any size box of Axion. Take it to your grocer.

Income Tax Supported By 3 Omaha Senators

Omaha (UPI) — Three Nebraska senators from Omaha Wednesday came out in favor of the state income tax as "the best and fairest tax system Nebraska can enact," and criticized what they said was an allegation made by Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha that he is speaking for the people in opposing the income tax.

Senators Bill Bloom, C. F. "Pat" Moulton, and Edward Danner of Omaha said in a prepared statement that a passage of the proposed constitutional amendment to prohibit a state income tax "would result in chaos in the state and would lead to a substitute tax system that would hit much harder at the middle and low income people than does the present system.

The statement continued, "in this connection, we deeply resent the implication by Senator Batchelder that the working people and the average taxpayers in the state have no voice with the Legislature and that he is speaking for them in advocating prohibition of the income tax.

'Misrepresentation'

"As one of the wealthiest members of the Legislature, Senator Batchelder naturally might oppose an income tax. But to represent this as speaking for the average and the poor of this state is a gross misrepresentation.

The statement said the senators had found during their terms in the Legislature that its members "are not jackals and hyenas, as Senator Batchelder has called them in the past. Rather, they are responsible, prudent citizens interested in serving the needs of this state at the lowest possible cost to the tax payers.

"We are convinced we will continue to do this under the present tax system."

Dr. Yarington Receives Award

Omaha — Dr. C. T. Yarington Jr. of Omaha received the fourth annual Professor Doctor Ignacio Barraquer Memorial Award for outstanding contributions in the field of medical cinematography.

The award was presented to Dr. Yarington at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otorhinolaryngology in Chicago.

Dr. Yarington is chairman of the Department of Otorhinolaryngology at the University of Nebraska Medical Center.

Menke Named Hitchcock Agent

Trenton — Phillip D. Menke, a native Nebraskan who was reared on a farm near Cozad, has been appointed county Extension agent for Hitchcock County.

The appointment was announced by the Hitchcock County Extension Board and the University of Nebraska Agricultural Extension Service.

Hitchcock County has been without the services of an Extension agent for more than eight months. Dr. John L. Adams, University of Nebraska Extension director, said the vacancy could not be filled earlier because of a delay in federal funds becoming available to the Extension Service. Dr. Adams said federal funds, administered through the U.S. Department of Agriculture, make up 40% of the University's Agricultural Extension budget.

Menke holds two degrees in animal science. His bachelor's degree was awarded by the University of Nebraska and his master of science degree by the University of Wyoming.

Mr. and Mrs. Menke will make their home in Trenton.

Buffalo Co. Home Agent Receives Service Award

Genevieve Lawrence

Honored For Service

Phoenix, Ariz. — A Nebraska home extension agent, Mrs. Genevieve Lawrence of Kearney received the National Association Extension Home Economists Distinguished Service Award at the group's convention here Wednesday night.

Mrs. Lawrence a home agent for 13 years, is presently serving in Buffalo County.

"She has been successful in acquainting the 'non-cooperators' with the Nebraska Cooperative Extension Service and its programs," said Agnes Arthaud, assistant Extension director.

As a result of her work with the Homemaking Unlimited program for Handicapped Homemakers, low income homemakers, Head Start parents, and consumer information in the area of meats, Mrs. Lawrence has extended the Home Economics program to new audiences of physically and financially limited homemakers, young homemakers and civic and professional groups, said Miss Arthaud.

Mrs. Lawrence's previous experience includes home agent work at Anadarko, Okla., and Osage Co., Okla. She is a past president of the Nebraska Association of Extension Home Economists; a member of Phi Upsilon Omicron and Omicron Ni, Home Economics honoraries; Epsilon Sigma Phi, Professional Extension honorary; and is listed in the 1968 edition of Outstanding Personalities of the West and Mid-West.

On Governor's Committee

In addition to her many activities as a home agent, Mrs. Lawrence is active in the Governor's Committee on Children and Youth, Buffalo Company Medical Auxiliary Mental Health Group and the Mid-Nebraska Community Action Program.

The 34th annual meeting of the NAEHE is being held Oct. 28-Nov. 1. Those Nebraska home agents receiving national committee appointments for 1969 are Genevieve Lawrence, chairman of professional improvement; and Barbara Tucek, East Platte area member of the professional improvement committee.

Hastings Plans Utility Poles In Pastel Hues

Hastings (UPI) — It appears the fashion world isn't the only department going "mod." The Hastings Utilities Department has now gotten into the act.

John Foster, department manager, said utility poles in most parts of the Hastings business district and also in outlying commercial districts will be painted in various pastel hues, instead of the traditional yellow.

Foster said a part of two blocks had poles painted a pastel shade several years ago on an experimental basis and that no complaints had been received.

The traffic signal bearing utility poles will continue to be painted yellow.

Noise is a very important cause of a hearing loss. Normal hearing can never be restored once it is lost because of noise. Noise is any unwanted sound.
Of course the loudness of noise determines the amount of permanent damage it might cause to a human ear.
It is well to have your ears audiometrically checked periodically if you are subjected to a continuous loud noise. See your ear doctor. If your hearing impairment is in the critical range for communicative sound, a Maico hearing aid might be the only answer to the problem.

Chill nights in our taxable suburbs. We have laid in a little trick or treat candy. But Halloween has tamed down these tame times.

We used to put on a moustache of burnt cork and an old sheet. It was a time of derring-do. We rang doorbells and ran like wild! Put tic-tacs on windows — rrrriiiippp!

Now a polite little moppet in a 10-cent store mask rings the doorbell. You drop the loot in his bag — his Pop is lying chicky up in the dark waiting to convoy him around.

Nobody is scared. Nobody really gets caught. Alack-a-day.

☆ ☆ ☆

"I can't make up my mind," cried the kitchen wren above the wish-wash of the dishwasher.

Whether or no and like it or not, we are coming to the day when we must mark the ballot and choose a man who—

Must wrestle with Congress over taxes, budgets, expenses.

Must try to carry out campaign promises some of which are bound to be shot down.

May have to carry one end of the hot line to Moscow.

Whose wife will surely drive women wild by changing the sheets at the White House.

It is not easy for us to pick that man.

☆ ☆ ☆

"How are you going to vote? Do you know yet?" she asked me. I am too old and wary a hand to cop out on that.

"I'm thinking about it," I said. "Pass the coffee."

She said: "You usually know how you're going to vote."

I said: "In this year, I may not know until I step inside the booth behind the curtains."

"If you'd make up your mind, maybe I could make up mine," she said irritably.

This is true: This wren votes just opposite me. It is not a matter of political conviction. It is a show of independence.

She even registers with the opposite party.

We step into the voting room. The clerk reads one name and shouts: "Republican!" He reads the other and cries: "Democrat!"

And all over the room people raise their eyebrows.

"That must be a lively scatter," is what they are thinking.

"Yes," she says on the telephone, "I voted for Snively. No, he voted for Crossfire. We never seem to vote the same."

She hangs up with great satisfaction. Something has been proved.

☆ ☆ ☆

It's been no easy political year for both of us. The candidates we kind of liked were dropped out without giving us any chance to give them a direct vote.

(Not the same candidates either, Claude. No chance.)

Anyway, we must choose now between second choices. It's a hard thing.

"I may write in a name," she said. "That will register my protest."

"We went through that last election," I said. "Don't you remember they said they wouldn't even count a write-in?"

"I think I'll call The Better Business Bureau about it," she said. "They have no business not counting my vote."

☆ ☆ ☆

We have never called The Better Business Bureau about anything. But it's a fearsome name she brings up when things aren't going satisfactorily.

If a neighbor's dog digs up the garden, she will call the BBB.

I said: "The Better Business Bureau — a fine organization — is not in the business of settling your argument with the voting laws."

"Somebody should be," she said. "It's ridiculous that I can't have my vote counted just because I write somebody in."

"Why don't we go out to lunch today?" I said.

"What are you having?" she asked.

"Hamburger," I said.

She said: "I'll have fish."

Governor Wants 10% Tax Continued

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Wednesday said he will "personally urge" the State Board of Equalization to retain the 10% state income tax rate on individuals' federal income tax liability.

In a strongly worded statement, the governor said "the anti-income tax forces with their typical big lie tactics have been saying that the rate will be set at 20 to 25%. This is absurd.

"It is an attempt to frighten the voters into voting for their amendment," Tiemann said. "The State Board of Equalization and assessment sets the income tax rate and I, as chairman will urge the board to set the income tax rate at 10%."

Ideas that the income tax would have to be hiked to 20 to 25% were being scattered by State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff who announced he will oppose retaining the income tax on telecasts concerning proposed constitutional amendments.

Carpenter in the 1967 session, in which the sales-income tax package was hammered together, convinced fellow lawmakers to oppose Tiemann's plan for maximum fixed rate income tax and supplied the amendment for an open-ended rate system based on federal income tax liability.

The board of equalization later set the rate at 10% for individuals and two per cent on corporations. Revenue at those rates was predicted at that time to be $35.5 million. Final figures on the tax, which went into effect Jan. 1, wont be known until it has been in operation for a full year.

Under the 10% rate, a Nebraska man and wife with two children and an annual income of $5,000, filing a joint return, will pay only $2.60 in state income tax after the $7 per person food credit is considered.

Carpenter said the Nebraska Tax Facts Committee, which was organized to head off forces seeking to abandon the state income tax, "is just not telling the truth."

Carpenter said the committee should be advising citizens about both sides of the issue. The way the income tax law was written means the tax rate must change annually, he added.

The lawmaker said he expects increased appropriations by the next Legislature which will send the rate up to 20 or 25% with a 2% sales tax.

The sales tax rate now is 2½% but is scheduled, by law, to dip to 2% Jan. 1 Tiemann has indicated he may call a special legislative session to revise the rate.

The governor would like the Legislature to set the income tax rate.

Carpenter said he also will oppose the constitutional amendments allowing 19 year olds to vole and permitting the Legislature to issue revenue bonds for highway construction and to classify and exempt personal business property from local taxation.

On the voting age proposal, Carpenter said he has had "my belly full' of young people.

Candidate's Vote Plans 'Misquoted'

New Party congressional nominee Bruce Hamilton Wednesday said he did not tell a newsman that he would not vote for Vice President Humphrey in the presidential race.

A United Press International report which so stated "grossly misquoted" him, Hamilton said. The report was printed in The Star Wednesday morning.

"Yesterday, Mr. Hamilton was questioned as to the effect upon his congressional campaign of Senator McCarthy's luke-warm endorsement of Vice President Humphrey," a Hamilton press release noted.

"Mr. Hamilton responded that the announcement in no way affected his candidacy.

"Mr. Hamilton made it clear that this 'endorsement' in no way affected the purposes or goals of his congressional campaign.

"He also stated that he has no doubt as to how Senator McCarthy would vote in this congressional race if he were a voter in this congressional district.

"However, Mr. Hamilton wss not even asked about his own vote for the presidency and made no statement that he would not vote for the vice president."

Yanks Win Chemistry, Physics Nobels

© New York Times Service

Stockholm — Two American scientists were awarded the 1968 Nobel Prizes in physics and chemistry Wednesday.

The awards went to Luis W. Alvarez, 57, professor of physics at the University of California in Berkeley, and Lars Onsager, 65, who is J. Willard Gibbs professor of theoretical chemistry at Yale University.

Dr. Alvarez was cited for his "decisive contributions" in the early 1960s to the techniques for the detection of infinitesimal particles of matter. He developed an ingenious technique for photographing and analyzing the bubbles left behind — like a string of pearls — as the ephemeral particles plunged through liquid hydrogen.

When He Was 28

Dr. Onsager was honored for work published in 1931 when he was only 28. Some regard his findings as the fourth law of thermodynamics, the science dealing with the relations of heat.

The difficult theory, which was far ahead of its time, is now recognized as "the reciprocity relations of Onsager." It can be used to determine, for example, the interrelation between voltage and temperature as electric current flows through a metal wire.

Two weeks ago, three Americans, Marshall W. Nirenberg, Gobind Khorana and Robert Holley, shared the Nobel Prize in medicine or physiology for their independent work in breaking the genetic code, which relates the inheritance factors in a cell to the cell's function.

Worth $70,000

Wednesday's announcements were the last of the 1968 Nobel awards, each of which is worth a record $70,000 in cash.

Alvarez was born in San Francisco in 1911 and worked during World War II in radar and electronic research in Boston and in the nuclear research center at Los Alamos, N.M.

Onsager Alvarez

Alvarez's work came against a shifting research background when scientists, by the 1950s, had long abandoned their theory that matter was built of only two constituents, electrons and protons, and had detected about 30 particles, roughly arranged in four classes.

In 1960, Alvarez shattered this theory.

The chemistry award winner, Dr. Onsager, was born in Oslo, Norway, in 1903. He moved to the United States, and it was at Brown University in Rhode Island, as a research instructor from 1928 to 1933, that he formulated his radical theories. He has been a U.S. citizen since 1945.

Cosmonaut Makes Soft Landing In Snowdrift

Moscow (UPI) — Soviet Cosmonaut Col. Georgy Beregovoi made a soft landing in a snowdrift Wednesday, ending a four-day solo flight in space he said was as quiet as a baby's cradle.

The shivering spaceman received a heros' welcome, then warmed up with a bowl of soup.

The 47-year-old war hero and test pilot came down from his 64-orbit flight in the Soyuz 3 spaceship in the frigid Kazakhstan countryside, as unperturbed as if he had just been up for a spin in a helicopter.

"I feel excellent," he told villagers wading toward the spacecraft through the snow and the crew of a pickup helicopter. "But I'd like something to eat."

Helicopters were beaten to the scene by children running from a nearby village. The children gathered around the spacecraft, collected Beregovoi's autograph, and stood grinning as he took their pictures with the camera he had used to photograph earth from 125 miles up.

Beregovoi, oldest man ever in space and the first to make it down alive in a Souyz spaceship, huddled into a fur coat produced by a recovery crewman, complained he had come "from summer into winter," downed his hot soup and then calmly took off by helicopter for a shave and debriefing.

Beregovoi spent approximately 96 hours in orbit aboard the Soyuz craft which the Soviet Union hopes eventually to send on a manned flight to the moon.

The first Soyuz had crashed while landing on April 24, 1967, killing cosmonaut Col. Vladimir Komarov and causing an 18-month hold in the Soviet manned flight program. Soyuz 2, an unmanned craft, was sent up last Friday and flew for three days serving as target vehicle for Beregovoi to practice approach maneuvers in space.

C Of C Takes No Stand On 10 Of 15 Amendments

The Lincoln Chamber of Commerce board of directors, lacking a quorum Wednesday, took no position on ten of the 15 Nebraska constitutional amendments to be voted on next Tuesday.

Board members indicated that there was a chance that a unanimous vote — required in the absence of a quorum — could not be obtained to support the positions outlined by the chamber's legislative committee.

It was also noted that the election is less than a week away and the chamber's stand might thus be of little value.

The board did, however, reaffirm its position in favor of Amendment No. 14, which allows revenue bonds to be issued for highway construction upon a three-fifths vote of the Legislature.

Several chamber directors also called for individual support for Amendment No. 12, which provides for a homestead tax exemption.

The chamber chose to take no stand on the remaining amendments.

It previously went on record in favor of retaining the state income tax. Wednesday it was noted that the Lincoln chamber came out for a broadened tax base 21 years ago.

Other business:

—The chamber's financial statement for the nine months ending Sept. 30 showed an excess of income over expenses of $36,059 and treasurer Karl Dickinson observed the chamber "is doing real well this year."

—Jaycee President Don Piersol reported that the Jaycee's will co-host, with the University of Nebraska, 35 blind children from the Nebraska City school at the Nebraska-Kansas State football game.

Israeli Says Country Can Count On America

© New York Times Service

Jerusalem — Deputy Premier Yigal Allon said in parliament Wednesday that Israel could count on American support if the Soviet Union intervened militarily on the side of the Arabs in any Middle East conflict.

He said that Israel would have to fight alone against her Arab neighbors if war erupted. But added that he had "solid grounds" to say the nation would not remain isolated if Moscow intervened.

The assurance of an American military commitment came in a major address devoted to Soviet penetration of the Middle East and the dangers inherent in any attempt to open the Suez Canal.

Allon spoke of Soviet interest in clearing the canal, but he said that the canal could not be opened by force, even if the Soviet Union wanted to try it.

In addition to the sunken ships and the accumulation of silt in the blocked waterway, there was the deployment of Israeli forces along the entire length of the canal, Allon said.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, speaking in Jerusalem to the parliamentary faction of the dominant Israel Labor Party, said that the likelihood of another engagement with Egypt along the canal was not too distant.

Strong Navy Said Needed For Free Flow Of Trade

"To insure the untrammeled flow of trade, we must have a strong Navy to insure freedom of the seas," the commandant of the Ninth Naval District told a Navy Day audience in Lincoln Wednesday night.

Rear Adm. Henry A. Renken said, "The direction we must take to maintain the other major elements of sea power — the Merchant Marine and oceanography — is clear.

"The nation's best brains and experience can determine how to achieve these goals," he said.

Boy Scout Troop For Handicapped To Be Organized

A Boy Scout troop for the physically handicapped will be organized Nov. 12 at a 7 p.m. meeting to be held at the Salvation Army Citadel at 11th and Q.

Scoutmaster Larry Nedrow, of the State Department of Welfare's services for crippled children, said the meeting will be open to any handicapped boy between 11 and 17 and his parents.

The cooperation of parents is especially sought, Nedrow said.

The troop will be organized to allow physically handicapped boys to participate in some of the functions of Boy Scouts, Nedrow said, and particularly to help build a feeling of self-reliance.

Lincoln Postmaster Kenneth P. Lewis will be chairman of the troop committee.

Renewal Of China Decision Asked

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and 12 other nations asked the U.N. General Assembly Wednesday to reaffirm its decision that the seating of Red China would require a two-thirds majority.

The proposal was expected to be approved without difficulty since it was adopted last year by a vote of 69 to 48 with four abstentions. Only a majority is needed.

On the question of seating the Peking regime and expelling the Nationalist Chinese delegation, no major shift is anticipated. The proposal was defeated in 1967 with 45 in favor, 58 against and 17 abstaining. The rule requiring a two-thirds majority was not needed.

In addition to the United States, sponsors of the new resolution were Australia, Bolivia, Brazil, Colombia, Gabon, Japan, Madagascar, New Zealand, Nicaragua, the Philippines, Thailand and Togo.

2,000-Year-Old Wine Is Awful

Bastia, Corsica (AP) — A Corsican frogman searching the depths found two jars of wine identified as of Roman origin and about 20 centuries old. He broke one open, tried one sip and pronounced it awful. The other, also sealed and presumed to be heavily infiltered with salt water, was sent to the Center of Submarine Archeology at Marseille for analysis.

Israeli: Red Pilots In Egypt

Jerusalem (AP) — A squadron of Russian TU16 bombers manned by regular Soviet naval pilots is based in Cairo to conduct constant reconnaissance flights in the area. Deputy Prime Minister Tigal Allon charged Wednesday.

Speaking in the Knesset, Israel's parliament, in answer to a motion regarding the Soviet presence in the Middle East, Allon said the 620-mile-an-hour bombers were under direct control of the Soviet navy.

He said there are more than 40 Soviet naval vessels in the Mediterranean, including 25 modern warships, plus 15 service and support craft.

Allon reported there were 3,000 Soviet military personnel in Egypt, 1,000 in Syria and 1,000 in other Arab countries.

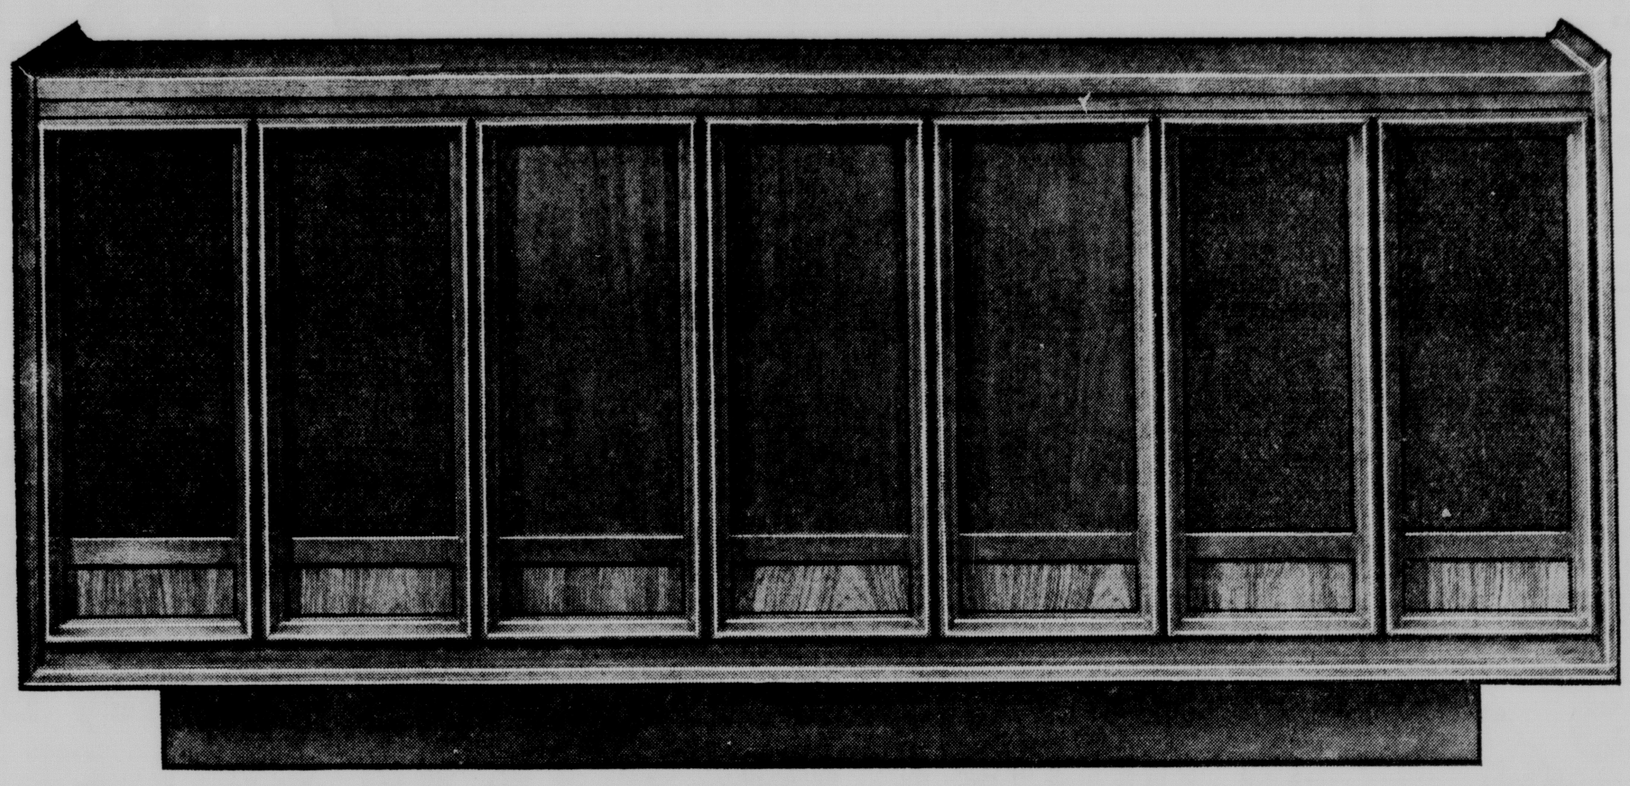

He gave no source for his information, but it was presumed to be from intelligence contacts.

Between 1947 and 1964 there were 8,763 Unidentified Flying Objects sighted by the United States Air Force.

Humphrey Discloses He Paid $200 For Property On Minnesota Lake

New York (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey disclosed Wednesday that he paid $200 to a prominent Minnesota dairyman for the lakeside property on which the Humphreys built their family home at Waverly, Minn.

Press secretary Norman Sherman issued a statement detailing the transaction after the Chicago Tribune in a story Tuesday claimed the property was a gift from Ray Ewald, whom the newspaper called a financial angel of the Democratic Party.

The Tribune's copyrighted dispatch said the Ewalds gave the property to Humphrey on Sept. 27, 1956, when Humphrey was a U.S. senator and the Ewald Brothers Sanitary Dairy was involved in a civil antitrust action in a price-fixing proceeding.

HHH Says 'Bunk'

The story said that although the deed indicates that Humphrey paid "one dollar and other good and valuable considerations," it bears no federal revenue stamps, indicating that no cash changed hands.

Humphrey earlier Wednesday termed the story "bunk," which prompted National GOP Chairman Ray C. Bliss to state in Washington that the allegation could not "be casually brushed aside by a comment such as bunk."

"The fact that the title to the land is said to have been transferred by one of the owners of a Minnesota dairy which had been indicted by a federal grand jury and was then involved in a civil suit with the U.S. government over alleged price fixing makes the transaction a subject for close scrutiny," Bliss said.

The Humphrey statement said that in 1955 Ewald sold six lots of "unimproved pasture land at Lake Waverly to the vice president with the understanding that he (Humphrey) would improve the property."

The six lots were part of a parcel of 12 lots of unused and unimproved property owned by Ewald, according to the statement. Ewald is managing director of the dairy firm.

Sherman's statement added, "On May 1, 1955, the assessed value of all 12 lots, including six improved lots not part of the sale, was $530. The vice president paid Mr. Ewald $200 as consideration for the property."

Republican Friend

Sherman emphasized that the lots Humphrey bought were the unimproved ones.

The statement released by Humphrey described Ewald as a Republican and a personal friend of Humphrey and added that the vice president "was not involved in any way at any time in any antitrust action involving Mr. Ewald."

In Minneapolis, Mrs. Ray Ewald said Humphrey paid for the land and that the transaction had "no connection" with the dairy business. Her husband was reported ill and unable to comment.

In Chicago, the former head of the Justice Department's Midwest Antitrust Division denied any undue pressure had "been put on me by Hpmphrey or anyone else" concerning the civil case.

"He was then Sen. Humphrey or anyone else" met him said Earl Jinkinson, now a Chicago attorney in private practice. "I still have never met him," Jinkinson added.

Lower Voter Age Backed By Hamilton

New Party congressional nominee Bruce Hamilton Wednesday said Nebraskans should lower the voting age to 19 in order to "reward positive responsibility" already undertaken by youth.

"The year 1968 may well be labeled as the year of 'The Youth,'" Hamilton said.

"The young men and women of America have shown that they, perhaps more than any other group, possess the concern, compassion and commitment which can reshape America.

"Their unwillingness to be satisfied with continuing war, poverty and racism has challenged the conscience of every thoughtful American."

Young people have undertaken "a massive campaign to reshape American politics through lawful political methods," Hamilton noted.

"And while the results of that effort have not been entirely successful, the overwhelming majority of those young people are determined to continue working for change through our electoral process.

"To keep that determination alive is a primary reason why I am running for Congress. But more than that, to keep that commitment growing, it is time for our citizens to give these young people a full and equal voice in the governing of our society."

The 19-year-old vote is proposed in a constitutional amendment which will appear on next week's general election ballot.

DENNEY FIGHTS HIGH INTEREST, LIVING COSTS

Congressman Bob Denney is fighting to hold down high living costs and high interest rates.

"I believe we can halt the unreasonable rise in costs by demanding sound fiscal programs from the Administration."

And Bob Denney has introduced a bill to put a price tag on legislation when it is introduced.

"Denney says it is about time the lawmakers paid some attention to truth in legislating, too. And it certainly is."

Tiemann Warns Against Unwarranted Spending

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Wednesday warned all state agencies against "ill-advised acceleration of spending" during the remaining nine months of the 1967-69 biennium.

"Historically," Tiemann said, "there has been some pattern of accelerated spending by state agencies toward the end of a biennium."

"It is my intention to avoid ill-advised acceleration of spending by any state agency," he said in a memorandum advising agency heads to heed his warning.

The governor noted agency heads have "a latent fear" that unspent money returned to the general fund will adversely affect their chances in securing requested appropriations from the next Legislature.

He said the agencies mistakenly fear the legislators will feel they appropriated too much money to the agency in the last biennium, and will cut the new requests in terms of old budget money left unspent.

"Your (agency) budget requests and the appropriations by the Legislature for this biennium were made on the basis of well-reasoned opinions as what was needed to run your agency," Tiemann said.

"If that (actual expenditure) turns out to be less than the appropriation, then no excuses need be made for that."

The governor said he will analyze the new budget requests from the point of view of whether proposed programs "are necessary and desireable," and not as to whether an agency will or will not have money left over.

Tiemann, who is beginning his executive chores in shaping a proposed 1969-71 state budget, said he is "sure" the 1969 Legislature will take the same approach.

Unpenned Pen Prose Apt To Stay That Way

The editor of The Forum, published weekly at the Nebraska State Penitentiary, has three stories he "would like to write but probably never will."

The three stories, published by editor Danny Hatten, would announce:

1. Making the Penal complex coeducational, with inmates from women's institutions transferred to the complex, assigned to jobs alongside the men, and housed in a dormitory with visiting hours to 10 p.m.

2. Abolishing of the state parole board to allow release of all men who have served minimum time and quoting the governor as saying, "Since recidivism is well over 50% anyway the law of averages should produce results at least as good as we have been getting with a lot less fuss."

3. Opening of a resturant at the Penitentiary, to provide pizza and fried chicken "to your cell, day or night."

Veterans Asked To 'Light Up' For Nixon-Agnew

Bob Lowry, state coordinator for the National Veterans for Nixon-Agnew, Wednesday asked all area veterans to participate in the "lighting the way for Nixon Agnew program" Nov. 4-5.

On these days, Lowry said, "local veterans can visibly demonstrate their support for the Nixon-Agnew ticket by turning on their porch and automobile lights."

The program is a follow-up to a national campaign which began Oct. 28.

Hastings Man Named To Grand Island Post

Rex Haberman of Hastings has been appointed director of personnel at the Soldiers and Sailors Home in Grand Island, Director of Institutions Don Duncan has reported.

Duncan said the home is undergoing expansion with funds appropriated by the Legislature in the last biennium, prompting a need for increased stafff and the new position of personnel director.

JOB OPENING:
Pays 67¢ an hour!

67¢ : That was the average hourly pay for being a member of the Nebraska State Legislature during the last session. The $200 a month we pay our Senators now is so low that it qualifies them for every poverty program the government offers!!!

Let's be Practical—Let's pay our Legislators a Reasonable salary. By voting FOR Amendment 15, we can raise the pay to a maximum of $400 a month, or $1.34 per hour, still under the minimum hourly wage and certainly not a "get rich" salary.

Tour Slated For Lower Voting Age

Youthful campaigners for a lowered voting age in Nebraska plan a busy weekend, Dave Piester of Minden, chairman of Nebraskans for Young Adult Suffrage (NFYAS), reported Wednesday.

An automobile caravan of 40 University of Nebraska students will tour the state Friday and Saturday, Piester said. Stops are planned at Plattsmouth, Nebraska City, Auburn, Falls City, Tecumseh, Beatrice, Fairbury, Crete, Fremont, Blair, South Sioux City, Wayne, Norfolk, Wahoo, Seward, Schuyler, Columbus, York, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Lexington, Cozad, Gothenburg, North Platte, McCook and Holdrege.

A house-to-house canvass Sunday in Omaha, Lincoln and many of the same cities to be visited by the caravans will conclude the weekend effort.

Nebraskans will ballot Tuesday on a constitutional amendment lowering the minimum voting age from 21 to 19.

Piester, a University of Nebraska students, said the weekend campaigning will be designed to "further inform Nebraska voters of the facts about the amendment, and its widespread state and national support."

Involvement of young persons in the campaign was described by Piester as "a further demonstration of the interest and concern young Nebraskans have in political matters."

Safety Confab Slated Nov. 13

George W. Harris of Chicago, field services manager of the National Safety Council, will be the featured speaker at a safety workshop Nov. 13 at the Nebraska Center, it was announced Wednesday.

The workshop, sponsored by the Nebraska Safety Council, the Omaha Safety Council and the Nebraska Farm Safety Council, will deal with promotion of future legislation for traffic safety.

The Farm outlook is important. Complete coverage of the latest of importance to agriculture appears on the "Sunday Journal and Star" farm page.

It's Halloween

Trick or treaters won't miss the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Veskrna at 2305 So. 58th tonight with this large lighted pumpkin beckoning them to the front door.

In the picture, Sandy, left, and Debbie, right, help their mother (center) put the finishing touches on the crepe paper which covers the frame constructed by Mr. Veskrna.

The idea of making a pumpkin originally came from Mr. Veskrna three years ago when the family had just moved into their house. They were trying to think of a way to help decorate their home and add beauty to the neighborhood. Since then the family has displayed a pumpkin every year and has received every compliments from their neighbors and the youngsters in the area on the novel idea.

Mr. Veskrna usually starts welding the wire framework a month before Halloween. He works two or three evenings in his garage to complete the frame before his wife and daughters start to cover it with bright orange crepe paper. After the frame and covering are completed, the pumpkin, illuminated by a lamp inside it, goes on the front porch approximately two weeks before Halloween.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl whose widowed mother (46) has recently married a widower a few years older than herself. She and her new husband are so wrapped up in each other that I feel I've lost a mother instead of gaining a father. My stepfather's 16-year-old son feels the same way — only in reverse.

We've told our "parents" how we feel, and they say their psychologist told them that "a remarried couple should be the center of a circle with their children forming a less significant circle around the center." He advised them to put themselves strictly first, because in his words, "over-consideration of children from a previous marriage often ruins a second marriage."

Abby, I want my mother back. We used to be so close, but now she only has eyes for HIM, and it's not much fun being an "orphan." Please help me.

"ORPHANED"

DEAR "ORPHANED": Be fair. You appear to be competing with your stepfather for your mother's time and affection. I agree with the psychologist. You are practically out of the nest and should be delighted that your mother has found someone in whom she has become so "wrapped up."

Around Town

We haven't the slightest intention of apologizing for a repetitious statement this morning. It is about our city, of course, and again we say it has reason to be proud.

With the entire world from which to choose a home following his retirement next spring, why would a man who has served with the United States Department of State for more than 30 years and who has held posts in Stockholm, Saigon, Helsinki and who now is the U.S. Consul-General in Quebec, buy a home in Lincoln?

He likes Lincoln, that is why.

His name, by the way, is Francis Cunningham who, with Mrs. Cunningham, will become Lincoln residents next spring. They already have purchased their home, and their Lincoln address will be 1215 So. 84th St. If you know your way around as to who lives where we won't need to tell you that until very recently Mr. and Mrs. Myron J. Roberts were the home owners at that address.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, by the way, have purchased another home. They will become condominium dwellers in the Wellington Greens area.

Maybe we should tell you that Mr. Cunningham is a graduate of the University of Nebraska; that he took a year's graduate work here — that he is a member of Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and of Phi Beta Kappa.

☆ ☆ ☆

We reluctantly admit that there are other former Lincoln residents, however, who seem to be quite happy in their current environment. We heard about Mr. and Mrs. Ethan Smith of Lampe, Mo., formerly of Lincoln — and about Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lawson of Lake Eufaula, Checotah, Okla., from Mr. and Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallett are just home from a jaunt which took them first to Lampe where Mr. and Mrs. Smith joined them for a trip into the Ozarks country.

Then the travelers went to Checotah and the lakeside home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawson where they spent some time before wending their way homeward.

Members of the board of the Mrs. JayCees and their husbands entertained Saturday evening at an informal steak-fry held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman LeGrande.

Ten couples attended the surprise party which honored Mrs. Paul Childers, a member of the board, and Mr. Childers, who will leave in the near future to make their home in Omaha.

FOOD

for breakfast or the wee small hours

Just imagine Sausage French Toast, drizzled with warm honey, tempting the listless appetite of one of the little people in your house; or imagine it, topped with hot applesauce, for a teen party breakfast; or imagine these meaty toast slices, with dabs of bright tart jelly, improvised for a host of friends in the wee hours.

Stop imagining, and start fixing! When you read the recipe for Sausage French Toast, you may think it's too complicated; but it really isn't. What could be simpler than slicing a loaf of bread and opening shelf-handy cans of Vienna sausages? Success is assured if you use day-old or leftover bread — and if you soak both sides of each bread slice in the egg-milk mixture. (This will help hold the sausages in place.)

Sausage French Toast

1 loaf (1-pound) enriched white bread, unsliced
2 cans (4 ounces each) Vienna sausages
3 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
Butter

Cut bread into 6 slices, 1 inch thick. Drain sausages; arrange on bread as letters or designs, using about 2½ sausages for each. Carefully cut around and under sausages; remove bread pieces and fit sausages into hollows. In shallow dish combine eggs with milk and salt. Add bread slices, one at a time, to egg mixture; coat each side completely. Fry until golden brown on both sides in small amount of hot butter. Serve hot with honey, maple syrup or tart jelly. Makes 6 pieces of toast.

Hors d'Oeuvres, Dips For The Party

Canape parties, whether they be post-game or a just-for-fun affair, always are popular with guests — This is especially true if you include something different on your hors d'oeuvres tray. Here is a thought — You might try to have some French fries handy to 'dunk' in a dip. Nowadays they may be purchased at a frozen-foods counter and that makes them practically no work.

But now on to the party and its canapes — and hors d'oeuvres—

Easy to make and certainly very tempting are these tiny cheese "pies" which can be served as appetizers.

PAPRIKA MINI-QUICHES

24 slices fresh white bread
½ cup butter, melted
1 cup light cream
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1 tablespoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon cayenne
2 strips crisp bacon, crumbled
½ cup grated imported Swiss cheese

Cut each slice of bread into a 3-inch circle. Lightly brush melted butter over both sides of bread. Gently fit each slice into a cup in a muffin tin. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 10 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Remove from muffin tin and cool. Combine cream, eggs, paprika, salt and cayenne; mix well. Arrange toasted bread cups on a baking pan or cooky sheet. Place ½ teaspoon crumbled bacon, 1 teaspoon grated cheese and 1 tablespoon egg and cream mixture into each cup. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400F.) 10 to 12 minutes or until custard is set. Serve immediately.

YIELD: 24 hors d'oeuvres.

SOUR CREAM & CHIVES DIP

1 cup (½ pint) sour cream
2 tablespoons frozen chives
4 strips cooked bacon, crumbled
Dash paprika

Mix together sour cream, chives, crumbled bacon and paprika. Cover and chill.

Makes about 1¼ cups.

NEW ENGLAND CLAM DIP

1 can (10¼ ounces) frozen New England clam chowder
1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 drops Tabasco
Dash celery salt

Place unopened can of soup in hot water for about 10 minutes, or until thawed. Meanwhile, let cream cheese soften in mixing bowl at room temperature. Gradually blend thawed soup into softened cheese, using a spoon, rotary beater or electric mixer. Add seasonings and continue to beat until well mixed. Cover and chill.

Makes 1¾ cups.

SPANISH RED SAUCE

2 tablespoons olive oil
1 clove garlic, minced
½ cup frozen chopped onion
¼ cup frozen chopped green pepper
¾ cup beef broth
1 can (6 ounces) tomato sauce
¼ cup chopped black olives
½ teaspoon crumbled oregano
¼ teaspoon crumbled thyme
½ teaspoon salt
Dash cayenne pepper

Heat olive oil in skillet. Add garlic, onion and green pepper; saute until onion and pepper are thawed and tender. Add remaining ingredients and simmer about 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve hot with French fries.

Makes about 2 cups.

Here's another great idea for a post-game party.

PAPRIKA CHEESE "FOOTBALL"

2 packages (8 oz. each) cream cheese, softened
1 package (8 oz.) blue cheese, crumbled
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
¼ teaspoon instant garlic powder
1 to 2 tablespoons paprika

Set aside 2 tablespoons cream cheese for later use. Combine remaining cream and blue cheeses, minced onion and garlic powder in a medium-size bowl; mix well. With hands shape cheese mixture to resemble a football. Chill until firm. Sprinkle paprika heavily over entire cheese surface. Place reserved cream cheese into a pastry bag containing a tip with a small round opening. Squeeze cheese out to form "laces" on "football". Serve with crisp crackers. YIELD: 1 large cheese ball

Easy Treats For Tricksters

Halloween is here. In many households that's a signal to assemble the simple ingredients and make up a few batches of ever popular Caramel Apples. It just isn't autumn without them! For juicy apples are in peak condition and there's special pleasure biting into the creamy, rich caramel-coated apples that are so crisp and juicy at this season.

Caramel Apples are so easy to make even junior cooks can help out. The luscious confections are great in their basic form, and the pint-size cooks will have fun, too, if you let them exercise their imagination by adding decorative touches with extra goodies. For starters, how about chopped nuts, miniature marshmallows, cinnamon candies, jelly beans, raisins, gumdrops or today's featured variation, crushed peanut brittle — Crunch Caramel Apples!

Dairy-fresh caramels are always available in 14-ounce "see-through" bags, the size needed for 4 or 5 luscious Caramel Apples. In fall, the wooden sticks are packed right on the bag by one leading manufacturer.

CARAMEL APPLES

49 (14-oz. bag) caramels
2 tablespoons water
4 or 5 medium size apples, washed, dried
Wooden sticks

Melt caramels with water in double boiler or in saucepan over low heat. Stir occasionally until sauce is smooth. Insert a wooden stick into stem end of each apple. Dip into hot caramel sauce; turn until coated. Scrape off excess sauce from bottom of apples. Place on greased wax paper; chill until firm. Keep in a cool place.

Crunchy Caramel Apples: Before placing Caramel Apples on wax paper and chilling, roll in crushed peanut brittle. Place brittle around stem end of apple. Place on greased wax paper. Chill until firm. Store in a cool place.

Pumpkins, as Cinderella's godmother well knew, have all sorts of exciting potentials. For example, you can turn one of thest fat golden globes into a fanciful container to hold treats for tricksters. Cut off the top, scoop out the seeds, and line the pumpkin shell with foil. Add a painted-on face if you're artistically inclined.

You can turn out around 30 treats in a matter of minutes — enough to ward off all the evil spirits in the neighborhood!

TRICKSTERS' TREATS

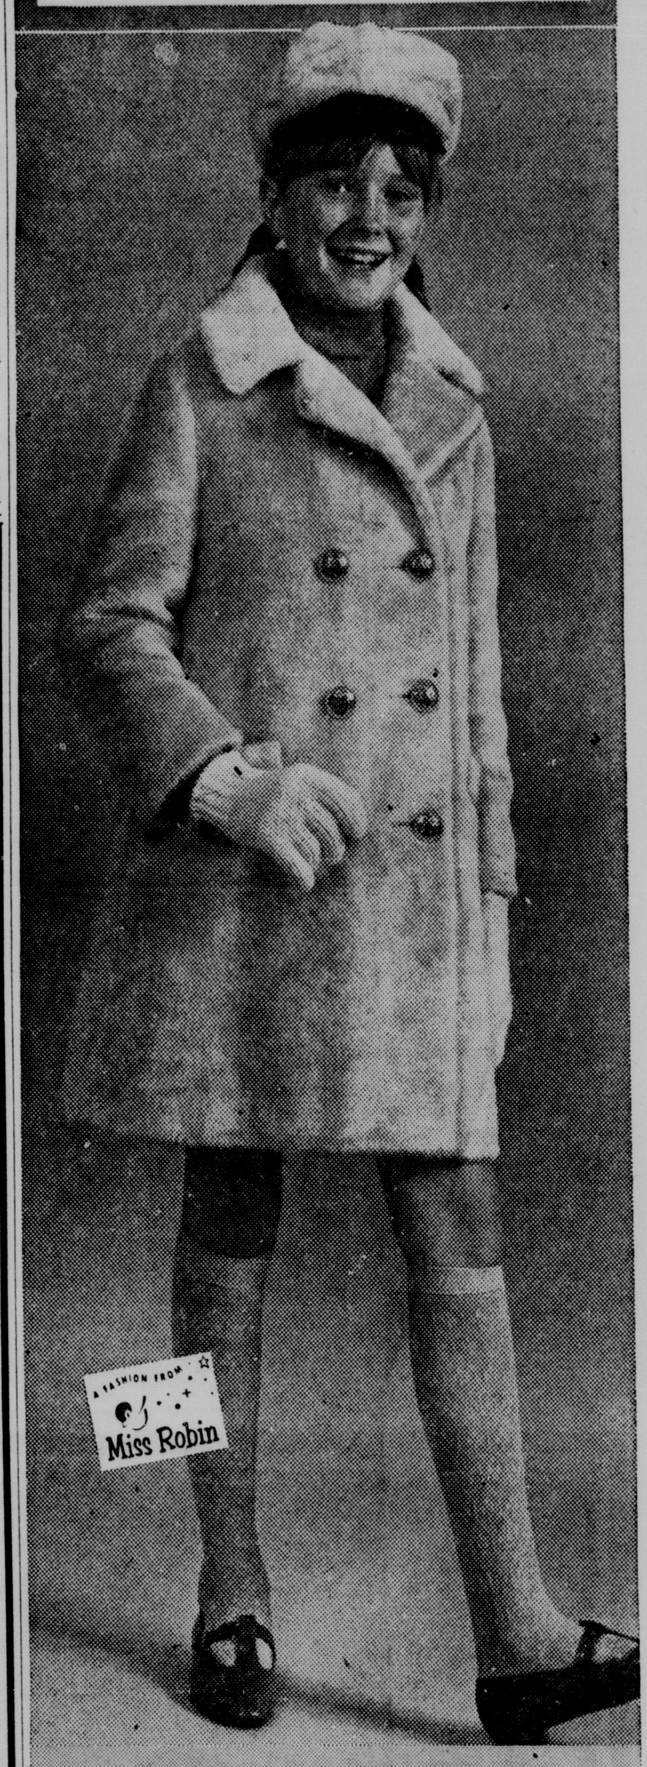

½ cup light corn syrup
¼ cup sugar
1 package (3 oz.) fruit flavor gelatin, any flavor
¾ cup salted peanuts*
4 cups alphabet oat cereal
*Or us ¾ cup raisins.

Combine syrup, sugar, and gelatin in a saucepan and stir until blended. Cook over low heat until sugar and gelatin are thoroughly dissolved—about 2 or 3 minutes.

Combine peanuts and cereal in a bowl. Add gelatin mixture and mix well. Let stand until cool enough to handle. Moisten fingers in cool water and form mixture into 1-inch balls, pressing firmly together. Place on wax paper to dry. Makes about 30 balls.

Rita's MAILBOX

Dear Rita: Do you know that a quick spray of hair spray will keep cat tails looking nice? Do you know of any other methods that will also keep cat tails looking nice? Dorothy, of Lincoln.

Dear Dorothy: A quick dip in hot wax will keep the cat tails from becoming fuzzy. I like your hair spray method best. It is easy, fast and economical.

Yes, when there is a chill in the air and the wind starts to howl it is time to pick the cat tails, choose the choicest of the pretty fall leaves, and get the decorative gourds ready for fall centerpieces.

How would you like to know how to make some cat tail candles? They are very attractive and easy to make. You will need a sheet of honeycomb bees wax in brown, two ⅛ inch diameter dowel sticks, six cat tail leaves (the artificial kind), one yard honeycomb bees wax wicking, and green floral tape. All of these materials may be purchased from the hobby shop and these supplies will make three candles.

Measure the sheet of honeycomb and divide into three equal parts by cutting across the sheet the short way. Cut with a sharp knife. Place one piece of honeycomb in front of you. Measure the short end of the honeycomb and add one-half inch to the measure. Cut a piece of wicking that length. Lay the wicking along the short side of the honeycomb, on top of the wax and about three-sixteenths inch from the edge. Fold the little three-sixteenths piece over the wicking. Be sure the extra one-half inch of wicking protrudes from one end of the wax. Do not mash the wax down, but fold firmly as inclusion of air pockets will cause your candle to burn too fast. Roll wax around the wicking until you have rolled the entire strip of beeswax around the wicking.

You now have a small candle. The ends will be straight. Cut off a piece of doweling, from nine to twenty-four inches, according to the length you wish your cat tail to be. I like to make them in varying lengths. Force the dowel into the end of your candle, opposite the wick. Force it along beside the wick for about two inches. The wax is very pliable. Gently round the end of the candle around the stem so it will be shaped like the end of a real cat tail. Do the same with the other end of the candle, shaping the wax around the wick.

Wrap floral tape along the stems of two of the cat tail leaves. Starting next to the end of the cat tail, cover the dowel with floral tape. When you are two-thirds of the way down the dowel, lay the two leaves against the dowel. Have the right sides of the leaves against the dowel, one leaf on one side of the dowel and the other exactly opposite the first one. Wrap the rest of the dowel with the floral tape, covering about two thirds of the stems of the leaves as you go. This secures the leaves to the stems. Cut off the floral tape and bend leaves away from stem to a natural position. Make the other two cat tails the same way, but with varying lengths of stems.

Next week I will tell you how to make corn candles and how to arrange both types of candles into a centerpiece.

Dear Rita: Help! I set some hot cups on my nice table and they left white rings on it. Can some one tell me how to get these white rings off my table? Thank you, Peggy.

Who can help our friend? It is heart breaking to see a nice table ruined. Also, may be you can suggest different ways of preserving cat tails.

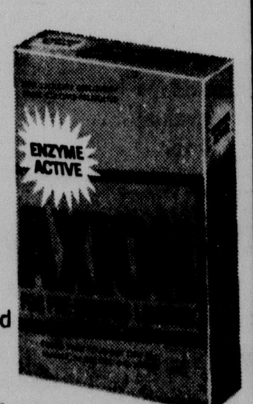

It is very near Christmas. Won't you please send us some of your gift making ideas for us in the column? Send your hints, questions and answers to Rita in care of The Lincoln Star. Send your real name, but if you would rather we didn't use it send a pen name also.

A Dressed-Up Atmosphere At Concert

There was a sophisticated touch at the Lincoln Symphony concert on Tuesday evening. Black ties and evening gowns were much in evidence and it wasn't even a premiere.

The black ties and the lovely gowns belonged to the members of the Lincoln Symphony Guild Board and of the Lincoln Symphony board, all of whom who had dined at the University Club preceding the concert.

As we mentioned before, it gave a touch of sophistication — a big city air and we would like to see the idea catch on.

In the picture, standing left to right, are Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Gudmunson, Mr. and Mrs. James Rawley, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Philip G. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Johnson.

Perhaps we also should tell that members of the Lincoln Symphony Orchestra also were included among the diners.

Bridal Showers

One of the busiest brides-elect of the autumn season is Miss Mary Jo Sharrar, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Sharrar, who is planning a late November wedding for her marriage to Thomas Rodeno, University of Nebraska senior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rodeno of Fairview, Pa.

Numerous prenuptial courtesies have been held, and are being planned for the weeks preceding the ceremony, which will be solemnized Friday evening, Nov. 29, at Blessed Sacrament Church.

Miss Sharrar will be the guest of honor on Saturday morning when Mrs. John T. McGreer, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Ferciot will be hostesses at a brunch to be held at the Lincoln Country Club.

Sunday evening, Dr. and Mrs. Richard Garlinghouse and Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan will be hosts and hostesses to family members in courtesy to Miss Sharrar and her fiance. The guests have been invited to the Lincoln Country Club for dinner.

Mention already has been made of the bridal shower for which Mrs. N. Richard Miller and her daughter, Mrs. Tracy Donovan, were hostesses last Thursday evening, Oct. 24, at the home of Mrs. Donovan. During the party, a bedroom and bathroom shower was presented to the honoree.

Miss Sharrar and Mr. Rodeno also shared honors on Sunday, Oct. 13, at a family brunch for which Dr. and Mrs. Maynard Wood and Dr. and Mrs. E. D. Zeman were hosts and hostesses at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Zeman.

When Mrs. Paul F. Halpine and her daughter, Mrs. James Zoz, honored the bride-to-be at luncheon at the University Club recently, a pottery and kitchen shower was presented to Miss Sharrar. Also hostess at a bridal shower in courtesy to Miss Sharrar recently was Mrs. A. L. Smith who entertained at luncheon at the University Club.

The soon-to-be bride was the recipient of a linen shower recently when Mrs. Ross Idol, Mrs. Howard E. Mitchell and Mrs. George Healey were luncheon hostesses at the Lincoln Country Club. Entertaining recently at luncheon at her home in courtesy to Miss Sharrar was Mrs. Frank Tanner. Co-hostess with Mrs. Tanner was Mrs. Clarence Nelson.

Incidentally, the popular bride-elect was honored "in absentia" last Sunday, when members of Mr. Rodeno's family gathered in Erie, Pa., for a miscellaneous shower in courtesy to Miss Sharrar.

A member of Delta Gamma sorority, Miss Sharrar received her degree last June from the University of Nebraska.

NU Coed Honored

A popular December bride-elect whose prenuptial courtesies begun last month is Miss Suzanne Kay Olson, whose marriage to Craig L. Mahel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mahel of Fremont, will be an event of Dec. 7.

Sunday afternoon, the bride-to-be will be honored guest at a courtesy to be held in Fremont, and for which members of Mrs. Mahel's sewing club will be hostesses.

Miss Olson also was honored at a miscellaneous shower held in Fremont on Sunday, Oct. 20, when feminine friends of Mrs. Mahel's entertained 70 guests in courtesy to the bride-elect.

A bridal shower was presented to Miss Olson recently at the home of Mrs. Lee Schlake. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Orville Dorn and Mrs. Larry Schlake. Also included among recent parties was the linen shower given by Mrs. Darrell Sayer and Mrs. Lloyd Brethouwer who entertained at the home of Mrs. Sayer.

The wedding of Miss Olson and Mr. Mahel will take place at a 7:30 o'clock evening ceremony, which will be solemnized at Sheridan Lutheran Church.

10 Ways to Help Your Studying

1. ORGANIZATION . . . The first vital step in study is organization. We teach the student how to organize and use varied texts, supplements, suggested readings and class notes.

2. FLEXIBILITY . . . You learn to adjust your reading speed according to the difficulty of the material, your background in the material, and your purpose in reading the material. Different techniques are taught for novels, texts, journals, newspapers, magazines etc.

3. CONCENTRATION . . . Concentration while reading and studying is very difficult for many people who read slowly. Rapid reading requires close attention, and concentration quickly improves so that students are not easily distracted.

4. COMPREHENSION . . . As concentration increases, comprehension improves. In addition, you learn to read expectantly for the author's concepts to which important facts and details may be attached. The result is greater depth of comprehension.

5. RETENTION . . . A very important measure of your reading ability is how much you remember. Retention is improved by reading for concepts, by using recall patterns, by maintaining a high level of concentration, and by remembering by association.

6. CONCISE NOTE TAKING . . . Recall techniques organize a conference or lecture as it occurs, eliminating voluminous notes and reorganizing. Recall patterns are especially valuable if the presentation is not concise and if your mind wanders.

7. RAPID READING . . . In Reading Dynamics you learn to read faster naturally — without mechanical devices and without losing the enjoyment or flavor of reading. Nor do you skim or skip. You triple your present rate by taking in entire thoughts at one time.

8. SUPPLEMENTAL READING . . . Many people limit their education because they barely have time for required reading. Being able to read widely adds interest and depth to your understanding.

9. INDEPENDENT STUDY AND RESEARCH . . . The real reward of education is the accumulation of knowledge. Our techniques allow you to continue your education at your own pace.

10. A LIFETIME READING AND STUDY MEMBERSHIP . . . After completing the basic course, most students continue to attend weekly workshops during the school year. (no charge) They bring their homework to the sessions and get a head start on each week's school assignments. Many work on their Independent Study Projects, or outline term papers, essays and thesis. Others attend these sessions for the pure enjoyment of reading new books and discussing the author's ideas with members of the class. These sessions provide a stimulating environment which will help you discover your potential for learning. Special counseling is available when necessary.

Find out why we have over 400,000 members Attend a FREE one-hour MINI-LESSON

The best way to find out what the course is all about is to attend an hour-long mini-lession. The mini-lesson will introduce you to your classroom procedures. It'll show you how we extend your retention and recall. It'll give you a glimpse of our sessions on new study techniques. You might even leave the mini-lesson reading faster than when you came in.

Also attending from Lincoln will be Mrs. Ray Evon, Mrs. James Miller, Mrs. Gordon Kuhn, Mrs. Kay Rising and Mrs. Don Piersol.

YOU WON'T WONDER WHERE THE DIRT WENT WHEN YOU HAVE YOUR CARPETS CLEANED WITH THE DEEP STEAM EXTRACTION METHOD. YOU CAN SEE IT GO!

EXCLUSIVE! FRANCHISED!

The difference—A controlled jet of wet steam penetrates into the carpet—soil and residue are suspended and in the same operation instantly extracted.

During research and development of the DEEP STEAM EXTRACTION METHOD it was found that almost as much soil could be extracted from a carpet that had just been shampoode as one that had not.

IN suburbia

It seems that news from Suburbia runs in cycles — one day may be devoted to entertaining out-of-town guests, after which the hosts and hostesses turn right around and become travelers and visitors themselves, thus filling our next column with items about trips of every variety.

This week, or at least this morning, the topic of conversation must, of necessity, be parties since suburban residents have been hosting and participating in so many recently. Of course, given the date today, Halloween is an apropos theme for such get-togethers, and we do have news of some merry-making along that line. But before we concern ourselves with these particular events, we'd like to mention a type of gathering which is always seasonal — birthday parties.

Last weekend's goings-on in that department were in the Bethany Park Heights neighborhood and took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil White. If area residents were aware of a bit of commotion coming from the White home on Friday evening, it was due to the eight enthusiastic young ladies who were invited there to wish Patti White a very happy 11th birthday. Although Patti officially became an 11-year-old on Thursday, she waited until Friday to observe the occasion with a pizza and slumber (?) party. Included on the guest list were Mary Kolar, Julie Crisler, Lynn Fox, Karen Hewitt, Stephanie Budell, Ann Jonas, Tara Bowers and Kathi Johnson.

Patti also did a bit of early celebrating on Wednesday evening when the members of her family honored her at a dinner. At that time, congratulations were extended by her parents; her sisters, Susan, Cathleen and Mary Jane; and her brother, Phil; and her grandmother, Mrs. Avis J. White.

Now for a bit about those Halloween capers. The first took place last Friday evening in Antelope park, and host and hostess were Kimballcrest residents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Thimgan. The eight couples who attended found that they were kept very busy with a wiener roast, a treasure hunt in the park, and a variety of games.

Those participating were Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Burns, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lilja, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nickeson, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hansen, and Bruce Shear and his fiancee.

Although we doubt that there were any real goblins or witches invited, Halloween was the theme at a party held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Houghton Furr. In attendance at the festivities were eight young ladies who are members of the Bluebird group for which Mrs. Furr is the assistant leader. Included on the guest list were Julie Casement, Patricia Jones, Lisa Powell, Christi Pratt, Shelley Puls, Teri Roti, Kristi Silvernail and Christine Burns; and we mustn't forget to mention Mrs. Carroll Burns, who is the leader of the group.

Rosemont residents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier kept themselves busy last weekend by traveling back and forth between Lincoln and Byron. On Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Spreier took two of their children, Lonnie and Kristie, to Byron for a stay with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Marquart.

Mr. and Mrs. Spreier then returned to Lincoln but were back in Byron again on Sunday when they attended a family reunion. Host and hostess for the Sunday get-together were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Marquart; and in attendance were their sons, Leon, and Lt. Gerald Marquart who, incidentally, soon will be leaving for a tour of duty in Vietnam.

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

There are 30-point tricks and also 300-point tricks. To lose 30 points in a hand is of course insignificant, but to lose 300 points is a far more substantial setback.

This deal occurred in a team match. At the first table, South arrived at six spades on the sequence shown. (He did not realize, when he bid the slam, that the opponents could actually make six hearts.)

West led the queen of hearts. Declarer ruffed and led the ace of spades on which West showed out. Without giving the matter much thought, declarer led a diamond to dummy, planning to take the marked trump finesse against the jack. But East ruffed, returned a club to West, and ruffed another diamond to defeat the contract two tricks — 500 points.

At the second table, on slightly different bidding, the contract was also six spades doubled. Again West led the queen of hearts, which South ruffed, and again declarer played the ace of spades, West showing out.

But at this table declarer saw that there was no urgency about leading a diamond right away in order to take the proven trump finesse. Instead he led a club.

This fine play saved him 300 points. West won with the ten and continued with the jack of hearts, which declarer ruffed.

South now tried to enter dummy with a diamond, which East trumped to put him down one, but the effect of the club lead at trick three was that the declarer at this table went down only 200 points instead of 500.

Not many declarers would lead a club at trick three to protect against the possibility of East's being void of diamonds, but South has absolutely nothing to lose by making the play and has a possible chance of gaining something if the situation is as he should fear. After all, 300 points are not to be sneezed at.

Budget Shoes, Downtown Only

The When, Why, How Of Junior Leagues

BY VIRGINIA LEE WARNER
(c) New York Times Service

They are not, as a rule, in the highest echelons of society, although some of them bear illustrious names — Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis is an honorary member — and, in the smaller cities, they invariably come from the most important families.

They go to all the right schools, are likely to be more interested in having proper shoes and bags than in owning jewelry, save for heirloom pieces and pearls, and they have a cool assurance.

Ranging from 17-year-old debutantes to suburban matrons with a station wagon full of kids, they are members of the Junior Leagues stretching from Maine to Hawaii and into Canada and Mexico, which mix social work with the purely social.

For a good many years, especially in New York City and the south, the balance, at least to outsiders, seemed to be in favor of the purely social. The first Junior League was formed in New York City in 1901.

It didn't take long for the highly privileged young women rounded up by Mary Harriman and Nathalie Henderson back in1 1901 to realize that their finishing school educations and their sheltered lives had not prepared them for even the simplest of volunteer tasks.

And out of that realization came the Junior League training courses and provisional membership. If the girls couldn't, or wouldn't pull their weight, they were dropped. This system is still adhered to.

Back in the twenties and thirties the volunteer program was directed largely toward health and welfare and each member contributed about two hours a week. The Leaguers were given credit for meaning well, and that was about it.

This state of affairs continued through most of World War II. Then the young women who had pitched in to ferry bombers, drive ambulances, act as air raid wardens and work at the USO found they could no longer be content with the Junior League's pretty little version of social work.

"We're far more civic than social; we have woman power and, in effect, we started head start in San Francisco," says Mrs. Huntly Soyster, president of the League there.

In Atlanta, the Leaguers are taking into the ghetto a truck filled with used clothing to be sold for minimum prices; many mothers with small children cannot get to the thrift shops.

"Unless a League can relate to the community situation, it is not a valid organization any more," says Mrs. Joseph W. Hamilton Jr., president in Atlanta.

Another change is the great number of Leaguers who do their volunteer work at night. This is now true of more than half of all volunteers in New York. But almost everywhere there are evening workers.

Most evening volunteer work for New York members takes them into such places as the Stanley M. Isaacs Community Center, 415 East 93rd Street, where arts and crafts are taught to pre-teens, and to Dnaa House, 18 East 71st Street, a home for unwed mothers where the residents are helped with sewing and given courses in charm and elementary typing.

Perhaps another indication of the more serious approach is that the number of debutantes presented by the Junior League here is going down each year. In 1964 there were 62. This winter here will be 25.

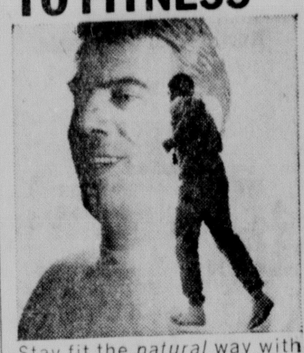

Also, like New York, most of the 215 Leagues — 206 in the United States, eight in Canada, one in Mexico, with a total membership of 100,000 — are gaining in membership and many are getting a bit top-heavy with Sustainers, those more than 40. Atlanta has the most active members: 752. New York is second with 747. Atlanta has 834 Sustainers, New York, 836.

States that do not have Leagues are Vermont, New Hampshire, Wyoming, South Dakota, Alaska and Nevada. But Nevada is trying to get one.

A member of the Columbus, Ohio, League who asks that her name not be used says, "we're still too closed, too small, and social standing still counts more than it should. We're beginning to reach out, though."

Colts' Curtis Week's Star

New York (AP) — Mike Curtis is a guy who likes to hit people. On Sundays he cracks down on the Baltimore Colts' opponents. On weekdays he takes it out on his own teammates.

Curtis was hitting the other fellow, particularly Roman Gabriel, Sunday wher the Colts upset the Los Angeles Rams, 27-10. For his savage treatment of the Rams' quarterback and his inspired play, Curtis has been named by The Associated Press as the defensive player of the week in the National Football League.

The former Duke star who was a third string fullback in his rookie year, has developed into all-pro material according to coach Don Shula. The Rams probably will agree.

"You must remember that this is actually only Mike's second season as a linebacker," said Shula. "You can't count last year because he didn't play after that injury in the third game."

Curtis won a regular job as linebacker in 1966 but suffered a knee injury in the third game last year. He was forced to undergo surgery and there was some doubt that he ever would play again.

Tough, quick and volatile, the 6-foot-2, 232-pound lowered the boom on the Rams with 10 unassisted tackles and a number of assists.

Curtis doesn't confine his head knocking to league games. He is just as tough in practice although as nice a guy as you'd like to meet off the field. In a Baltimore practice, rookie running back Terry Cole threw a bruising block at Curtis, who retaliated by flattening the newcomer from Indiana. Cole is reported to have dismissed the incident with, "I've been hit harder than that back home in Mitchell, Ind."

The Colts were ready for the Rams. They thew Gabriel five times for loss of 38 yards, with Fred Miller, Billy Ray Smith and Curtis making big contributions to the defensive effort. The Colts, incidentally, awarded the game balls to six offensive linemen, including platooning centers, for the job they did on the Rams' Fearsome Foursome.

Willie Wood, Green Bay's free safety, was all over the field Monday night, batting down Don Meredith's passes and helping the corner men handle Bob Hayts and Lance Rentzel in the Packers' 28-17 upset of Dallas. Dave Robinson, the Packers' left linebacker, also was superb against both the run and pass.

Jamie Rivers, the young man who took over the St. Louis Cards' middle linebacker job after the retirement of Dale Meinert, made the key defensive play in a 31-17 victory over New Orleans. Rivers stopped Dave Whitsell short of a first down when Whitsell, the holder, tried to run the ball on a fake field goal play. The score was 17-17 at the time. Rivers was involved in eight tackles and knocked down a pass to an otherwise open receiver.

Both the New York Giants and Washington Redskins' defensive units did good jobs in the game won by the Giants, 13-10. Walt Barnes of the Redskins' special teams blocked a punt that was recovered by Ken Barefoot for the only Washington score.

Charlie Krueger, the veteran defensive tackle of the San Francisco 49ers, drew a nomination for his work in a 14-7 triumph at Detroit. Krueger was the primary rusher who rushed Bill Munson into a bad day at quarterback for the Lions. Krueger recovered a Munson fumble and lumbered 22 yards for a touchdown after Clark Miller jarred the ball loose.

"I guess it was the longest run I ever made in pro football," said Krueger, "and it was all due to Clark Miller, who jarred it loose."

Jim Kanicki of the Cleveland Browns led a great pass rush on Atlanta's Randy Johnson and Bob Berry in answer to some remarks by Norm Van Brocklin, Atlanta coach, that the Browns were more adept at finesse than hitting. The Browns dumped the passer eight times, including punter Billy Lothridge who was spilled when he faked a punt and tried to throw.

President Offers Yank Olympians Congratulations

Washington (AP) — President Johnson offered his congratulations to the U.S. Olympic team Wednesday and said "your countrymen deeply appreciate sacrifices you made to win such a prestigious place in the competition.

"Thanks to you," the President said in a statement released at the White House, "the world has witnessed once again the vitality, vigor and fair play which mark the American character."

Johnson said the exploits of the athletes at the Mexico City Olympics "reawakened our national pride and renewed our faith in the future."

Spartans Can Hit .500 Tonight

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The top-rated high school football teams in the state are looking for another treat, while hoping not to be tricked, as they face a Halloween weekend of play.

Capital City fans get the biggest treat of all, with three games slated for Seacrest Field.

East High opens the action on Ghost and Goblin night when it hosts Millard. Another intra-city clash has Pius X and Southeast batbling Friday night, while Lincoln High entertains Omaha Westside in the weekend's finale Saturday evening.

The Thursday East-Millard meeting will find coach Lee Zentic's Spartans favored to even their record at 4-4. After an 0-8 finish in the first year of the school's history last fall, East has captured victories over Hastings, Beatrice and Southeast so far this season.

The East offense, sluggish at the outset, has picked up in recent games under the leadership of quarterback Barry Blue.

Zentic's front line, featuring the play of Bob McGinnis, Len Dickinson and Boyd Jones, has given a good account of itself throughout the year.

Millard, one of the larger Class B schools in the state, will be facing its fifth Class A foe. The Indians enter with a 4-3 overall record. The only common opponent is Beatrice, which blasted Millard 41-6 last week, after losing to East by a 21-0 count.

Friday night Southeast will be trying to prevent a winless year in its encounter with Pius X.

Coach Vince Aldrich's Thunderbolts rank as the favorite, however, despite a 2-5 record. The two clubs have faced two common rivals. Lincoln High beat Southeast 34-7, while bouncing Pius X 39-13 to indicate a rather even contest. But the 'Bolts topped Northeast 6-3, while the Knights lost to the Rockets, 26-0.

The Lincoln High-Westside meeting Saturday night could go a long way toward deciding Class A supremacy in the state. Both are among the top-ranked prep teams in Nebraska.

Coach Andy Loehr's Links envision the chance for a state title with a win over Westside and a closing triumph over Grand Island, the only team to give state leader Fremont a true test all year.

The Northeast-Bellevue game is another meeting between two top-ten ranked Class A clubs. Bellevue, winner of its last four in a row after an opening game loss to Boys Town and the tie with Westside, should be favored, though coach Claire Boroff's Rocket crew will be trying to reverse the trend of outplaying the opponent, yet winding up on the short end of the score at the finish.

Millard at Lincoln East (Seacrest Field, Thursday)—The Spartans have a great chance to even their record with a win here.

Lincoln Northeast at Bellevue (Friday) — The Rockets came up with a great effort last week against Grand Island, only to be nipped at the wire. It may be the same kind of frustrating night.

Lincoln Pius X at Lincoln Southeast (Seacrest Field, Friday)—On paper this looks like a win for the Thunderbolts, but look for the Knights to make an all-out effort for their initial victory.

Cozad at Broken Bow — This decides the tough Class B Southwest Conference championship. Cozad, with only a one touchdown loss to No. 1 Aurora blotting its slate, wins a close one.

Omaha Westside at Lincoln High (Seacrest Field, Saturday) —The game of the week! Flipped a coin but it came down on its edge. The Links have the more explosive offense.

UTAH STATE ON PROBATION

...Aid, Eligibility Infractions

St. Louis (AP) — Utah State University was reprimanded, censured and slapped with an indefinite period of probation Wednesday by the NCAA for violations of financial aid and eligibility rules infractions.

Arthur Bergstrom, executive assistant to the National Collegiate Athletic Association, announced the penalties against the school for violations involving one student football player.

The NCAA committee on infractions charged the school's head coach helped the student pay off a loan in violation of NCAA rules, and allowed the student to participate in spring practice, also in violation of NCAA rules

During its probation none of Utah State's athletic teams will be allowed in post season events.

Northern Michigan University was also reprimanded and censured for participating in a non-certified post season football game while its application for NCAA membership was still pending. Bergstrom said the NCAA had recommended aganst such participation and the school's action had shown bad faith. No penalty went along with the censure, Bergstrom added.

The action against the two schools brought to six the number of institutions censured or put on probation by the NCAA.

Earlier Wednesday Pan American College of Edinburg, Tex., was put on one year's probation for violations of rules governing recruiting, non-season practice and financial assistance to basketball players. St. Bonaventure and Florida State Universities and LaSalle College were put on probation Tuesday.

The NCAA made a number of policy changes and recommendations during its three-day fall meeting in St. Louis. The recommendations are to be acted upon during the association's convention this January in Los Angeles.

The council voted to support an amendment requiring member institutions to apply NCAA eligibility requirements to transfer students during the regular season. Such requirements now apply only to NCAA post-season events.

Another amendment supported by the council would allow athletes four years of varsity competition in all sports, except football and basketball, but only three years of eligibility in NCAA competition.

Two policy recommendations were adopted by the council. One recommends that universities prohibit the use of their facilities by professional teams except in emergency situations.

The other recommendation was that schools provide the same housing for student athletes as for non-athletes.

Both recommendations were not binding on schools and there would be no penalty for any school choosing to ignore them.

A resolution expressing concern over the rising costs of college football was passed.

CUMBERSOME CORSET

Washington Redskins' quarterback Sonny Jurgensen tries on a rib-protecting corset-like cast in the D.C. Stadium dressing room Wednesday. Jurgensen, who has worn the cumbersome apparatus the last two games to protect cracked ribs is hoping he can discard it when the 'Skins meet the Minnesota Vikings Sunday. Helping Jurgensen is Washington trainer Joe Kuczo.

Explosive KU Offense Boosts Jays To No. 3

. . . 11 WINS IN LAST 13 GAMES

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Kansas has parlayed the bold genius of coach Pepper Rodgers, the swashbuckling quarterbacking of Bobby Douglass and the nation's most explosive offense into a No. 3 rating in the Associated Press poll.

The combination could bring the Jayhawks their first Big Eight championship and high national ranking since 1947 when Ray Evans, now a Kansas City banker, was the Kansas star.

Kansas has reeled off six straight victories and averaged 45.2 points a game. They play Colorado here Saturday.

Franklin Cullen Rodgers, 36, got the nickname "Pepper" because he was born during the 1931 World Series and an uncle who was a baseball fan was enamored by the feats of the St. Louis Cardinals' Pepper Martin.

A year ago, after nine years as a backfield coach at Air Force Academy, Florida and UCLA, Rodgers picked Kansas off the deck and took the Jayhawks to a 5-5 season and a tie for second in the Big Eight.

The Hawks lost their first three games, then upset Nebraska, 10-0, and have posted an 11-2 record since. Kansas' victims this year have been Illinois, Indiana, New Mexico, Nebraska, Oklahoma State and Iowa State.

Rodgers stuck with Douglass, who had a disappointing sophomore season two years ago, and now rates him one of the nation's best quarterbacks — if not the best.

Bobby Douglass," says Rodgers, once a Georgia Tech quarterback, "has played outstanding football for us since we've been here. He's a leader and he can do as many things to win for you as any back I've ever seen."

With four games to play in his career, Douglass has rolled up 3,007 yards total offense — 2,235 of it by passing and 772 by running.

To go with Douglass, Rodgers has put together a blazing-fast backfield which includes Donnie Shanklin, who carries a 7.8-yard rushing average; John Riggins, who has a 6.9 mark, and flanker John Jackson, a 9.5-second track man.

The Jayhawks also possess one of the two best tight ends in the Big Eight in John Mosier, and outstanding offensive linemen in center Dale Evans and tackle Keith Christensen.

Defensively, end John Zook may be the best in the Midlands, linebacker Emery Hicks is all-conference and 270-pound sophomore Karl Salb has developed quicker than anybody expected.

"This is a good football team," Rodgers says, "but nobody will know exactly how good it is until we play the rest of our games. We've got the meat of our schedule coming up (Colorado, Oklahoma, Kansas State and 10th-ranked Missouri).

"We don't have great depth, but we're solid in what we've got. We've been satisfied with our team, because it's winning. That's the object."

Kathy Kusner Becomes First Woman Jockey

. . . MARYLAND GIVES GREEN LIGHT

Washington (AP) — Kathy Kusner, the nation's first girl jockey, is a shy, almost frail lass who feels more at home with horses than people.

The Olympic rider, first of her sex to crash the hard-bitten world of horse racing as a jockey, insists she isn't a crusader. "I don't care about proving anything at all," she said Wednesday. "I just want to ride horses."

The Maryland Racing Commission bowed to a court order Tuesday and issued a license to the 27-year-old jumping show rider as the first woman ever permitted to race horses on a major flat track where betting is legal.

The slender, brown-eyed jockey said she hopes to begin racing, possibly at Laurel, at the end of November when she completes the Eastern horse show circuit. She said she already had been contacted by owners about possible racing assignments.

Miss Kusner, from Monkton, Md., was a member of the U.S. riding team that finished fourth in the Olympics in Mexico City Sunday She is currently riding in the Washington International horse show.

Won't it be an abrupt step going from the tweedy world of jumping shows to the often seedy world of day-to-day thoroughbred racing?

"Both involve horses," she said.

She set a simple standard for herself: "To be able to give the owner and the trainer and the $2 bettor their money's worth." The Olympian shrugged off any thought of riding someday in the Kentucky Derby.

"That sure would never come close to happening," she said. "That is for those at the very top. I just want to ride where other people ride."

Miss Kusner agreed one of her biggest problems might not be on the track but in the jockey room. Won't tracks have to provide separate dressing rooms? "I would imagine they would have to," she smiled.

The girl jockey, who has short brown hair trimmed in a boyish bob and has thin, almost spindly legs, is 5-foot-4 and weighs 103 pounds. The Maryland Commission turned down her bid for a license after a workout at Pimlico this year, but a court ruled the panel had refused her because of sex discrimination and ordered a reversal.

Miss Kusner plans to ride free, without the usual jockey's share of a winning purse, to retain her amateur standing. She said the International Olympic Committee has given her a go-ahead.

The eqeustrienne has been riding since she was 10 years old and said horses are "something that's always been a part of my life."

Asked at a news conference what she likes about horses, Kathy smiled and said, "they don't have to give interviews."

Lincoln Returns To San Diego

Buffalo, N.Y. (AP) — Halfback Keith Lincoln, the Buffalo Bills' leading rusher and pass receiver last year, returns to the San Diego Chargers Wednesday.

Lincoln, 29, was placed on waivers Monday by the American Football League Bills and was claimed Tuesday by the Chargers, for whom he once starred.

Lincoln, fifth among the AFL's lifetime rushing leaders with 3,383 yards on 758 runs, has been plagued by injuries and illness this season.

Huskers Work On Kickoff Coverage

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Noting that Iowa State currently leads the nation in kickoff returns, Nebraska head football coach Bob Devaney had his Cornhuskers concentrating on kickoff coverage Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's Big Eight Conference game against the Cyclones.

Devaney pointed out that Iowa State's strength in returning kickoffs is not surprising because new Cyclone coach Johnny Majors came to Iowa State from Arkansas which has consistently been a leader in punt and kickoff returns.

"We've got to get a little better every week," the Husker coach said, pointing out that Iowa State's offense is as good as that of Oklahoma State and that the Cyclones' defense is also on about equal footing with the Cowboys, who the Huskers narrowly defeated, 21-20, last Sathrday.

Husker first-string quarterback Ernie Sigler suffered a finger sprain in Wednesday's workout, but Devaney said the senior signal-caller is expected to be back at practice today.

The Husker coach expressed satisfaction with the overall condition of his team, but added that overweight has been a minor problem, especially in the line.

He said, however, that offensive tackle Don McGhee (294) and defensive tackle Bob Liggett (271) are "becoming weight conscious."

"McGhee could be a real good tackle if he was qiueker," Devaney said. "But to get quickness, he's going to have to lose about 30 pounds."

Lack Of Confidence Not Rookie's Problem

New York (AP) — Rookies in the National Basketball Association have to polish old skills, learn new ones and gain confidence. Well, Tom Boerwinkle doesn't have to worry about confidence.

Every inch of the 7-foot, 270-pound Chicago rookie center from Tennessee exudes confidence.

Example No. 1:

"I feel like I'm a better ballplayer now than yesterday. I hope to be getting better for a long time."

Example No. 2:

"It's no rougher than I thought it would be. The Southeastern Conference was tough too. They play some real head-knocking ball down there."

Example No. 3:

Boerwinkle met Boston's great Bill Russell head-to-head before more than 18,000 fans in Madison Square Garden Tuesday night, and neither the crowd nor Russell seemed to bother him as he scored 19 points and grabbed 19 rebounds in Chicago's 103-97 victory over the Celtics in the opener of a doubleheader.

Boerwinkle's confidence is not cockiness. Rather it stems from a real liking of the game.

"I love it." Boerwinkle says. It's just like coach Dick Motta said at a banquet: 'I don't know what I'd have if I didn't have professional basketball and had to go out and work for a living.'"

But it is work, hard work, to keep acquired skills at their peak and strengthen weak points.

"My jumping has got to improve, but my speed is adequate for my position unless I'm overestimating myself," said Boerwinkle, who gives every indication of being capable of estimating himself correctly.

"I also have to work on my driving and quickness. This is where a guy like Russell amazed me, with his quickness."

Boerwinkle has now played against Russell twice, but he has yet to go up against Wilt Chamberlain of the Lakers. This will come Friday night in Los Anageles.

"Of course, that's the big moment," says Boerwinkle.

Boerwinkle, confident or not, might be apprehensive when he first meets Chamberlain on the court.

But you ran bet he won't be a quivering mass.

KU Averaging 440 Yards Per Outing This Fall

Unbeaten Kansas leads Big Eight clubs in team offensive statistics compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

The Jayhawks rank No. 1 in scoring (45.2), No. 3 in rushing offense (300.5) and No. 7 in total offense (440.3) after six games. Missouri (267.0) ranks 11th in the nation in rushing offense.

In individual offensive categories Colorado quarterback Bob Anderson has advanced to No. 6 in the nation in total offense with 1,317 yards. Iowa State's John Warder is 19th in the same category with 1,133 yards.

Oklahoma's Steve Owens is the eighth-leading rusher with a gain of 725 yards. In punting Kansas' Bill Bell leads the nation at 42.9 yards per kick and Kansas State's Bob Coble is No. 7 at 41.9.

Longshots Pay Off In Atokad Racing

. . . SUN CHIC PAYS $125.80

South Sioux City — Sun Chic paid $125.80 to start off Wednesday's horse racing program at Atokad and before the day's nine-race card was completed, two other meeting bests were recorded — highest daily double and highest show payoff.

Doc Gates won the second race to combine with Sun Chic for a 3-4 double that rewarded $346.20. Then in the fourth race, Hob Nob paid $33 in finishing third. It was a pretty good day for longshots all-around, with 15 of the day's 54 prices in double figures.

In addition to the horses themselves, jockey Fred Ecoffey, who trailed leader and defending champion Vernon Sayler by four points going into the day, won six races to take a commanding lead with three days to go and set an all-time record for this track.

Ecoffey now has 39 victories, breaking the former Atokad meeting mark of 33 which he shared with Don Stauffer.

Devine Boosting Big Eight Pair

Kansas City, Mo. (UPI) — Missouri Coach Dan Devine told sports writers Monday that a pair of Big Eight quarterbacks, Colorado's Bob Anderson and Kansas' Bobby Douglass, ought to be in the running for this year's Heisman Trophy.

"I would like to go on record as endorsing both Anderson and Douglass for the Heisman Award," Devine said. "I think it would be a shame if we didn't do all we could to promote both these boys for All America or the Heisman Award."

And with one minute and 47 seconds left in the game, Craig Reichmuth tallied the tying market from about 25 feet out.

'67 Scoring Already Surpassed

Kansas City (AP) — Points are going on Big Eight Conference scoreboards in record numbers.

With the season just past the halfway mark, four teams already have scored more points than they did all last season and the other four are scoring at a pace which is certain to put them ahead of their 1967 totals.

Kansas, unbeaten in six games and ranked third in the nation, still leads the point parade with 271 points in six games for an average of 45.2 a game. The Jayhawks scored only 166 points in 10 games in '67.

Missouri Iowa State and Kansas State also have surpassed their 1967 point production with four games left to play. The Tigers have 156 this year, against 134 last season, while Iowa State has a 141-86 bulge and K-State a 112-90 margin.

Nebraska has 109 points so far and needs only 18 more to match the Cornhuskers' 1967 total for 10 games. Colorado has 148 in six games and got 214 last year, while Oklahoma State has 73 and made 123 last year and Oklahoma has 138 and got 264 a year ago.

Cyclone Gridders Hold Big Workout

. . . McMILLAN STILL DOUBTFUL

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Iowa State football coach Johnny Majors ran the Cyclones through another heavy workout Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's game against Nebraska.

The team spent a large portion of the 90-minute drill on kick coverage and returns, play review and blocking and tackling fundamentals.

Majors said sophomore wingback Jeff Allen is running better after recovering from a week-long knee injury. Allen played sparingly against Kansas last Saturday after missing a week of practice.

Nebraska has beaten Iowa State seven straight times since the Cyclones last won, 10-7, in 1960.

Officials expect a crowd in excess of 27,000 in Ames Saturday. A stadium record crowd of 26,000 saw the Kansas game.

Missouri

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Oklahoma State's history of springing at least one football upset in the Big Eight each season is a matter of concern for Missouri coach Dan Devine.

Devine termed Wednesday's practice "a real good one" but added that Terry McMillan, his injured quarterback, is still not at full speed and it remains doubtful he will play against the Cowpokes here Saturday.

Colorado

Boulder, Colo. (AP) — Three Colorado football players who were hospitalized Tuesday with what was thought to be a mild influenza attack were released Wednesday from the student infirmary.

All three were at practice Wednesday afternoon, although one, Tom Nigbur, was in sweat clothing and did not participate in heavy workouts. Fullback Ward Walsh and cornerback Pat Murphy were in pads and took part in the entire drill.

Nigbur has missed all heavy work, and may not be able to take the starting fullback assignment he won with his second half performance against Oklahoma.

Kansas

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Dick Nelson, a No. 2 linebacker for Kansas, will undergo surgery for torn knee ligaments and probably is out for the season, the team physician announced Wednesday.

Al Jakobcic, starting middle guard, took part in Wednesday's workout but there were doubts that his strained knee will let him play against Colorado Saturday.

Kansas State

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — Coach Vince Gibson of Kansas State has a severe cold, and he says, "I think I caught it from the draft caused by all those touchdowns last Saturday." Missouri beat K-State 56-20.

He hinted that K-State might do more passing against Oklahoma, and he talked about the Sooners' backfield. "Nobody has stopped them this season," he said.

Oklahoma

Norman, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's plans for this Saturday's football conflict with Kansas State received a jolt Wednesday when first team wingback Eddie Hinton entered the university infirmary with a high temperature.

Coach Chuck Fairbanks said Hinton did not appear to be seriously ill but added the Lawton senior's status for Saturdays' game would not be known until later.

Fairbanks elevated Gary Jamar of Ada to Hinton's first team spot for the present.

Hinton is OUs' top pass receiver and a prime candidate for All-America honors in the midlands area.

Oklahoma State

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — The Cowboys of Oklahoma State worked on their kicking game Wednesday as they began winding up preparations for Saturday's Big Eight Conference clash at Missouri.

Coach Phil Cutchin noted OSU has held Missouri to one touchdown in each of the past two meetings.

"Punting gains importance in low scoring games, of course," he said. "It was a big factor last year and the last several years."

Preliminary ICC Probe Fails To Find Evidence

Washington (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission said Wednesday a preliminary investigation failed to find evidence to back up reports accusing a hearing examiner of unethical conduct.

Examiner W. Wallace Wilhite reportedly was "entertained" by officials of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, according to charges relayed to the ICC by Sen. Gale W. McGee, D-Wyo.

McGee said he had received complaints that Wilhite traveled with the railroad officials during a series of hearings on the railroad's request to drop two trains operating between Omaha, Neb., and Billings, Mont. The railroad claimed the trains would lose $1 million this year.

Wilhite claimed opponents of the train discontinuance were always present when he was in the company of railroad officials, and that his conduct was not reproachable.

A spokesman for the ICC said the investigation was not completed, "but so far nothing has come in that indicates" the examiner did anything unethical.

The spokesman said the ICC was still trying to contact all the parties in the case, asking for information that might substantiate the reports aimed at Wilhite. The investigation probably would take another 10 days, the spokesman said.

Ancient Romans played a game similar to soccer. So did the Chinese, Aztecs and Polynesians.

Leal Doeschot of Adams and Albert Munn of Waverly received 15-year pins.

The total Lancaster County 4-H enrollment for 1968 was 1,716 members with 244 women and 105 men leaders.

Nelson To Head NE Kiwanis Club

Dwight Nelson, president of Nelson Construction Co., has been elected president of Lincoln Northeast Kiwanis Club for 1969. He will succeed Dr. William Colville when new officers assume duties in January.

The club named Dr. Larry Crowe vice president and re-elected Ray Judds treasurer. President-elect is Herb Glancy.

Named to the board of directors were Harry Peterson, Dick Earl, Vincent Brown, Dr. Donald Burzlaff, Dr. James DeShazer and Jack Dodds.

People Seek Better Roads In Panhandle

Bridgeport (AP) — Highway construction and improvement programs which would cost an estimated $11 million were proposed here Wednesday by residents of the Nebraska Panhandle, a meeting called by the Nebraska State Highway Advisory Commission.

The $11 million figure is approximately four times the amount of money that can likely be appropriated for District 5, which encompasses the Panhandle, according to Commission member Dan Ramsey of Scottsbluff.

Most of the proposals called for improvement of existing highways, although some new construction was recommended.

One of the more prominent suggestions called for construction of a four-lane highway up the North Platte Valley, following the route of the present U.S. Highway 26.

Three Presidential Candidates Differ, Agree On 'The Cities'

© New York Times Service

By E. W. KENWORTHY

Washington — If a campaign issue is to be defined as something that really agitates the ordinary voter on a nationwide scale, then the domestic issues of this campaign can generally be grouped under the heading "the cities."

For in the cities are all the problems — as impacted as the dwellers in the ghetto — of which the social worker has been long aware but which required riot and arson and shooting to thrust into the public consciousness.

These problems are poverty, jobs, housing, schooling, health and "law and order." At their core lies race — blackness.

Irony Found

Some, including Hubert Humphrey, find irony in the fact that Richard M Noxon has the vice president on the defensive on the issue of the cities.

Humphrey, all his political life, has been in the forefront of those who were aware of the corrosions of poverty and discrimination and who did something about them.

His first bill, on coming to the Senate in 1949, was a medicare bill. Year in and year out he went down to defeat on civil rights bills until he finally led the great breakthrough in 1964.

No Leadership

By contrast, Nixon took no position of leadership in this field.

Nixon attacks his opponent and the Johnson administration with the following: "We have been pouring billions into those federal programs (Job training, housing and welfare) and we have reaped a harvest of riot and frustration and failure."

This points up one of the difficulties in determing what Nixon would do about the cities. He talks in slogans.

Conservative Attitude

Nixon, except in the fields of education, old-age pensions and medicare, has taken a conservative attitude toward federal outlays for social purposes.

He apparently intends to look primarily to private enterprise to supply the initiative and funds to solve the problem of the cities.

Humphrey, with his New Deal heritage, has always put primary reliance on Washington initiatives and federal funds. This year, however, because of the growing disenchantment with federal direction and bureaucracy, Humphrey says:

'Private Sector'

"If we are to perfect our cities within the traditions of American free enterprise, much of the initiative — must come from the private sector."

It is Nixon's contention that white America has sought for many years "to buy off the Negro" with ever more programs of welfare, of public housing, of payments to the poor. But these "payments," he says, have simply perpetuated the Negro's cycle of dependency.

The solution to the cycle of dependency, he says, is to "bring to the ghetto the light of hope and pride and self-respect." He would do this in two ways.

Tax Incentives

First, by the use of tax incentives — either direct credits, or accelerated depreciation, or a combination of the two — he would encourage private business and industry to locate in the ghetto, to undertake job training, and to repair houses and build apartments.

Nixon's second proposal is to give Negroes "a piece of the action," to develop "black capitalism" in the ghetto, to hold the promise and opportunity, not simply of jobs, but of becoming managers and owners.

The capital for this would come from the federal Small Business Administration's loan program and from "traditional lending institutions that would be encouraged to take the risk through reinsurance programs.

'Marshall Plan'

Humphrey's "Marshall Plan for the cities" is vague, but his proposal for financing it is specific. He would set up a national urban development bank" whose resources would come from both public and private subscription.

The national bank would charter regional affiliates to serve specific metropolitan areas. The boards of the regional banks would have representatives of local government, of black and white communities, the whole economic spectrum.

Essentially, Humphrey says, his program adds up to a "federal underwriting of loans," because of "the unusual risks which are inevitably involved in meeting the hardest and most critical urban problems."

'Prior Lien'

Humphrey has said he would obtain the federal funds needed for the cities from "a prior lien" on the $12 billion to $15 billion annual increase in federal taxes "on our vastly expanded national income."

He has also suggested retaining the present tax surcharge at a reduced rate and using this revenue for the cities.

Nixon recommends a "national computer job bank." He says that "part of the unemployment problem is simply a matter of getting the man and the job together."

George C. Wallace, the American Independent Party candidate, proposes moving the Negroes out of the cities.

Rural Surroundings

He suggests federal incentives to encourage industry to locate in small towns amid rural surroundings. This, he says, would give "those (Negroes) totally unfitted by training, background and environment who have been lured to the metropolitan areas by the wholly false promises and commitments of self-seeking political leaders" an opportunity to "depart these overcrowded areas" and find "a productive life." At the same time, he adds, his plan would provide "relief" for many of the problems of the cities.

This is Wallace's only proposal for meeting the economic and social problems of the core cities.

The issue of "law and order" has generated more rhetoric than reflection by the major candidates.

'Violent Years'

Nixon has said: "The vice presidential years of Hubert Humphrey have been the most violent years of the American people."

Humphrey has suggested that Nixon's first and last resort would be "a billy club."

NU Senators Endorse Proposed City College

The proposed Lincoln Community Junior College was endorsed Wednesday by the Associated Students of the University of Nebraska (ASUN).

The student senate passed a resolution urging Lincoln voters to support the issue Nov. 5. The resolution stated that two-thirds of Lincoln's youth need accredited technical or vocational training beyond high school.

Also, there is a significant number of Lincoln adults who need retraining to improve or develop skills, the resolution said.

"Business and industry need for trained workers for expansion of present or attraction of new firms is a prerequisite to be met prior to further business and industry growth in Lincoln," the resolution stated.

The senators also considered a resolution requesting the university to establish a policy that no students may be hired to inform on other students or otherwise be used as "underground agents" on the campus.

After a lengthy discussion on the rights of a university community and civil liberties of students, the resolution was tabled for revision.

In other business, a committee was established to study the restructuring of the student government organization.

Enrollment in Nebraska Free University courses at NU is over 1,000, a record number for the program, it was announced.

Dystrophy Drive Total At $8,100

Further totals are expected to be in about two weeks from now, she said.

Jackie Denies World Tour Plans

Athens, Greece (AP) — The Greek press reported Wednesday that Jacqueline and Aristotle Onassis will begin a world honeymoon tour Thursday, but she told reporters on arriving in Athens she and her husband will return to the island of Scorpios Friday.

Mrs. Onassis arrived in Athens from the island several hours after her husband flew here for a business conference.

She told reporters at the airport: "We'll remain in Greece as long as the weather is good. There is no reason to leave and we have no definite plans for the future."

Before leaving with Onassis' sister, Mrs. Artemis Garoufalidou, she added: "I'm very happy."

Mrs. Onassis looked radiant in a beige dress. She was well tanned from sunning and swimming at Scorpios, her husband's private island.

On his arrival from Scorpios, Onassis declined to discuss his future plans.

Stag Movie Said Aired By Mistake

Palm Springs, Calif. (UPI) — A television engineer alone in the studio after the station shut down has admitted he was the phantom pornographer who aired a stag movie thinking he had cut off any possible transmission, police said Wednesday night.

Allen Veatch, 25, a control technician in station KPLM which had been in operation only three weeks, said the broadcast early last Sunday showing a nude man and woman was accidental, Chief of Police Robert B. White said.

Veatch was reported to have said the videotape was his own property and that it was immediately destroyed upon realization of what had occurred.

White said the FBI had joined in the investigation following dozens of complaints to police about the pornographic broadcast which was transmitted for approximately 15 minutes on KPLM shortly after the station had signed off the air.

A formal statement issued by White did not immediately disclose the charge on which Veatch was being held.

The management of station KPLM said it would broadcast a public apology expressing its regret at the incident. KPLM said Veatch had been discharged and that it wished to make it clear that the station had no knowledge of what had occurred until Veatch's arrest Wednesday.

It was learned that Veatch, who was alone in the studio Sunday morning, was playing the videotape and watching a set in the TV studio, thinking he was the only one watching it.

Instead, the line feeding it to the commercial cable company distributing center was still hooked up and the program was beamed to the public.

White said there would be a further study of the case to determine the proper jurisdiction for prosecution.

Mexican, 20, Forces Plane To Fly To U.S.

Brownsville, Tex. (AP) — A 20-year-old Mexican national forced a Mexican airliner with 35 passengers and a crew of four to fly at gunpoint from Tampico, Mexico, to Brownville, Tex., Wednesday. The man immediately asked for political asylum.

A spokesman for the U.S. marshal's office here identified the man as Juan Francisco Garcia Zurita of Gutierrez Zamora, Vera Cruz, Mexico.

Officers said the man handed the stewardess a typewritten note shortly after the C-46 airliner operated by Saesa Airlines left Tampico for Reynosa.

The man then showed the stewardess a .22 caliber pistol and told her he wanted to fly to Brownsville for "humanitarian reasons."

Garcia Zurita surrendered the pistol to a crewman moments after the airliner landed at Brownsville.

FBI agent Clay Zachary of Brownsville said Garcia Zurita is a unmarried college student and had boarded the plane at Poza Rica en route to Reynosa.

Zachary said the stewardess told thim Garcia Zurita handed her a note he said was for the pilot. She said the note said, "Fly to Brownsville, there you will land and refuel and I will give you further instructions."

Postal Officials Study Equal Job Opportunity

More than 40 post office officials from Nebraska, Kansas and Oklahoma studied approaches to equal employment opportunity at a conference here Wednesday.

The two-day conference, which ends Thursday afternoon, drew representatives from the eight biggest post offices in the three-state area, including Lincoln and Omaha.

And Nebraska postmasters from Columbus, Fremont, Boys Town, Grand Island, Hastings, Norfolk, North Platte and Scottsbluff also attended the meeting.

The delegates broke up into discussion groups Wednesday afternoon in an attempt to isolate and define solutions to the problems of equal employment opportunity.

Earlier Wednesday the conference heard presentations by M. R. Lee, director of the industrial relations division, Wichita, and David Anderson, vice president of the Lincoln chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Reid Devoe, executive director of the Nebraska Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, addressed a luncheon session Wednesday.

Thursday's program will include reports from the different discussion groups and an address by Paul Nagle, director of the Office of Equal Employment Opportunity in Washington, D.C.

A panel of five Lincoln women, representing several races and religions, will assess the groups' conclusions at a luncheon Thursday noon.

Response Said Favorable To Proposed Service Unit

More than 140 Lincolnites attending a meeting here Wednesday "responded favorably" to a proposal that would create a state division of child and family services, meeting officials said.

But there was no official action taken on the proposal, backed by the Nebraska Committee for Children and Youth.

Committee officials said the delegates heard presentations on the proposal and assessed the plan in discussion groups.

The meeting is one of a series being sponsored by the committee in order to acquaint Nebraskans with the plan.

The division would break down into regional areas across the state and would develop services to "more adequately meet the needs of children and their parents," committee officials said.

One of the important aims of the proposal is to keep the child within the family unit, backers said.

Services offered by the division would include: counseling programs, day care services, services for unmarried parents, adoptive services, foster home care, homes for children, homemaker services, diagnostic services, social worker training and purchase of services from private agencies.

The regional divisions would also assure that services provided under the proposal would not duplicate services already in existence in the area, committee spokesmen said.

The next meeting in the series will be held Nov. 13 in Omaha. Other meetings scheduled in the near future include sessions in Scottsbluff and Norfolk.

Heifers Are Steady To 25c Lower

Omaha (AP) — A gradual softening in heifer prices kept the slaughter cattle market off balance at Omaha Wednesday.

Cows, meanwhile, staged a modest rally with a firm to 25 higher trade, most advance within existing quotations. Bulls were steady.

Fresh feeder cattle arrivals were being held for Friday's auction.

Hog prices here Wednesday were mainly steady to instances 25 lower. The declines were limited to strongweight butchers and sows.

Corn Futures Close Lower

Chicago (AP) — Corn futures advanced nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade Wednesday, but closed lower under heavy liquidation in wildly active dealings.

Trade in all commodities was very active and mixed.

Other grains also made good advances from early lows but closed on a generally weaker tone. Soybeans, however, displayed good buying strength to the close.

The Canadian government announced it would add an import levy to U.S. corn that sold here under $1.05 a bushel. This, the trade reasoned, threatened corn exports.

Selling turned active immediately on the Canadian news and a full cent was trimmed off corn futures highs before some leveling off was noted. Near the close, hedge selling developed and tended to influence wider liquidation.

At the close, wheat was ⅝ of a cent a bushel lower to ⅞ higher, December 1.29⅝; corn was ⅜ to ¾ lower, December 1.12⅜; oats were unchanged to ¼ lower, December 67 cents; rye was ¾ lower to 1½ higher, December 1.18¾; and soybeans were ⅛ to 1⅜ higher, November 2.51½.

Registration Required Of 'Gangster Weapons'

New York Times Service

Washington — Gangster-type weapons such as machine guns and sawed-off shotguns and destructive devices such as bombs and mines must be registered with the federal government between Nov. 2 and Dec. 1, Sheldon S. Cohen, commissioner of internal revenue, announced Wednesday.

Registration of the gangster weapons was required by the National Firearms Act of 1934, which was recodified by the gun control act signed into law last week. The new gun law also requires registration of destructive devices for the first time.

Cohen said the IRS regulations affecting rifles, shotguns and handguns would be announced in "two or three weeks."

During the month-long amnesty period, the forms for registration may be obtained at any IRS office. They are to be filed with the Washington office of the IRS.

Cohen said information or evidence submitted in registering a weapon could not be used in a criminal prosecution arising out of a prior violation of any law.

More than 100,000 gangster weapons are registered under the 1934 law, and they need not be re-registered, Cohen said. He said he doubted that there were many more such weapons in circulation.

But, he said, he had no idea how many destructive devices — bombs, grenades, bazookas and the like — were in private hands. He implied that the figure would go into the hundreds of thousands.

After the amnesty period, no gangster weapons or destructive devices can be registered, and persons possessing an unregistered weapon can be fined up to $10,000 or jailed up to 10 years. Transfer of such a weapon to another individual require payments of a $200 transfer tax.

Trio Sought After Blast At Litchfield

Litchfield (AP) — Three men were being sought Wednesday night following a chemical explosion at a Litchfield home in which three firemen were overcome by smoke.

Sherman County Sheriff Virgil Kaminski said the men, allegedly employed as exterminators, must be found in order to determine what type of chemical was being used and to decide how the firemen are to be treated.

The sheriff said the men were hired to exterminate termites at the home of Mrs. Otto Kiborz of Litchfield and were working in the basement when the blast occurred.

He said they fled following the explosion.

The sheriff said the blast bulged the basement walls and damaged the upper part of the house.

Mrs. Kiborz, who was in the first floor kitchen, was not hurt.

The sheriff said Firemen Dale Smith, Ralph Smith and Dick Borland were overcome by fumes from the chemical as they fought the resulting fire.

Kaminski said the three exterminators escaped in a white truck.

A third press conference during next week is scheduled for Friday at 3 p.m., when attendance by a number of out-state newspapermen is expected.

Grassland Burns In Chadron Area

Chadron (AP) — Some 1,000 acres of grassland burned Wednesday afternoon in an area from six to eight miles west of here.

Chadron Fire Chief Gealy Mathes said his men fought the blaze from between two and three hours before bringing it under control.

The chief said the blaze apparently started on a railroad right-of-way and raced down both sides of the railroad.

There was no injuries reported nor damage to buildings.

Better Airline Service Eyed By Scottsbluff

Omaha (AP) — The city of Scottsbluff Wednesday joined several other Nebraska cities supporting improved airline service for Omaha.

John G. Rutz, president of the Greater Scottsbluff Chamber of Commerce, urged specifically the extension of Frontier Airlines routes to points east, north and south of Omaha.

The request came in testimony presented at a Civil Aeronautics Board hearing in the Omaha-Des Moines Air Service Case.

Rutz said the Scottsbluff area has a strong need for non-stop flights on Frontier from Omaha to Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis-St. Paul and from Omaha and Des Moines to New York and Washington.

His testimony to CAB examiner Richard Walsh alleged that inadequate airline service between Scottsbluff and eastern cities has forced Hiram Scott College students to use charter flights.

Similar testimony in support of increased Frontier service through Omaha was presented earlier by representatives of Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney and McCook.

The hearing continues Thursday.

A momentary difficulty arose when it was discovered someone had forgotten to put stamps on the envelopes. However, the governor bargained with a newsman who happened to have some stamps and the ballots were sent on their way.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 5 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives.
